Is it time for over-55 housing areas in Andover?

By Greta Cuyler

Skip and Pauline Giles never wanted to move out of Andover. But they felt the town's lack of housing for those over 55 left them no choice.

"When you retire, who wants to have a million-dollar home and pay $12,000 a year in taxes? Why would I want to retire and keep doing this? You don't. You downsize. And Andover is not conducive to that," said Skip Giles, formerly of Hearthstone Place.

Andover has no age-restricted housing bylaw, although the Planning Board is spearheading a proposal it plans to present to residents in the coming months (see related story at right). The board has conducted studies of other towns that offer this type of housing, including North Andover, Tewksbury, Sudbury, Westford and Cohasset. Discussions of specifics are now underway, including cost, units per acre and building height. The board does not want more than 231 over-55 housing units within Andover, a number that represents 2 percent of its housing stock based on the 2000 census.

"We would love to get something like this

Sample bylaw being cobbled to lay out rules

By Greta Cuyler

The town Planning Board is putting the finishing touches on a proposed town bylaw to define the type of age-restricted housing that would be allowed in Andover.

While it appears no bylaw would be ready for the expected Special Town Meeting in September, the town plans to solicit resident feedback through a public forum in the coming months.

Many communities have complexes geared to those 55 and older, but Andover currently does not. "This type of community is attractive to a certain demographic of the population," said Stephen Colyer, town planning director.

According to Senior Town Planner Lisa Schwarz, approximately 1.87 million Massachusetts residents will turn 55 between now and 2020.

In its current form, the proposed bylaw would require developers to acquire a special permit to build over-55 communities, and these would be subject to several guidelines.

Details will be finalized during public discussions, but there are basic guidelines the town is following:

- At least one of the residents of each unit must be older than 55.
- Such communities would be allowed in all residential areas in town, although how many units per acre would depend on the area's zoning.
- 15 percent of an over-55

SUV-EATING SINKHOLE

A new Volvo XC90 SUV with only 300 miles on it, driven by Panagiotis Papageorgiou of Andover, ended up in a giant sinkhole caused by a water main break on Haggetts Pond Road. The car in front of Papageorgiou had passed over the spot safely.

Water-main break sinks road

By Rita Savard

A cracked water main caused the ground to collapse suddenly on Haggetts Pond Road Tuesday, swallowing the front end of a Volvo SUV.

The force of water rushing through 12 feet of cracked piping created a sinkhole that was approximately 10 feet in diameter and 10 feet deep, according to Andover police Lt. William McKenzie.

Panagiotis Papageorgiou of Andover was driving towards Lowell Street on Haggetts Pond Road around 12:45 p.m. when the asphalt crumbled beneath his vehicle, submerging almost half of it underwater.

"I haven't seen a hole like that since witnessing a B52 crater in Vietnam," said McKenzie. "The water was coming out so quick, no one could immediately tell that the road was already undermined. It was all sand. One car actually made it over fine, then the car behind it went under."

The broken water main was responsible for feeding drinking water into the town's Wood Hill water tanks. The four tanks combined hold 4 million gallons of water, about one third of the town's water supply, said Morris Gray, superintendent at the Department of Public Works.

"The importance of the main made repair time crucial," Gray said, adding that it took a crew of workers about one and a half hours to replace the damaged section of pipe, disinfect the new portion and fill in the hole.

The road was reopened to traffic at about 8 p.m. Tuesday.

An estimated half million gallons of water was lost in the leak, Gray said.

"About 20 residences actually felt any effects from the burst," Gray said. "The problem was isolated very quickly."

Katarina Hornung, a resident of Granli Drive, near Haggetts Pond Road, was watering her flowers around the time the pipe burst.

"I noticed the water pressure drop but I really didn't think much of it at the time," Hornung said. "Then I heard helicopters flying overhead and suddenly there was all this commotion happening."

Papageorgiou sustained no personal injuries, but his new sports utility vehicle, with only about 300 miles on it, was towed from the scene.

One of the features on Papageorgiou's Volvo XC90 are sensors that automatically roll down the windows when water is detected, according to Hornung.

"He could have been trapped. But the windows rolled down and he was able to rush out of the car," Hornung said. "It's a strong selling point for Volvo."

Eagle-Tribune Publishing Co. sold

Andover Townsman has new owner

The Eagle-Tribune Publishing Co. of North Andover announced Wednesday it has agreed to be acquired by Community Newspaper Holdings Inc. of Birmingham, Ala., which publishes newspapers in more than 150 markets across the United States.

The deal will end more than a century of local family ownership of The Eagle-Tribune and Andover Townsman, and comes three years after the company bought the daily newspapers in Salem, Gloucester and Newburyport from Dow-Jones & Company of New York.

The Rogers family of Andover has owned the company for 107 years.

The purchase price was not disclosed. Both Eagle-Tribune Publishing and CNHI are privately held companies.

Publisher Irving E. "Chip" Rogers III, the fourth generation of his family to head Eagle-Tribune Publishing, announced the sale at a staff meeting Wednesday morning. He said he expects the deal to become final by mid-September and that it will allow the newspapers to continue to grow in the 55 communities they serve in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

"Today, we're stretched to and sometimes beyond capacity," Rogers said.

"We knew we needed to add significant production capacity or join a larger company with greater capacity. In a nutshell, we became too big to be small but were still too small to be big."

Rogers said joining a larger organization is the "best way for us to keep growing" and that CNHI is a good cultural fit because it also values community journalism.

"CNHI is focused on high quality, local journalism," he said. "That's what we've been about for 107 years."

Mike Reed, CNHI's president and chief operating officer, said the purchase opens up growth opportunities for CNHI in New England, a region of the country where it does not own newspapers.

"Not only are these newspapers well-known and respected in our industry for their journalistic excellence, they are also noted for being well-run businesses, which speaks highly of the Rogers family," Reed said.

"We are proud to have these newspapers join the CNHI family and we know we will learn much from them."

Founded in 1997 with funding from the Alabama teachers retirement fund, CNHI has daily, weekly and semiweekly newspapers in 20 states, most of them in the Midwest and the South. It has been aggressively buying papers in smaller markets with growth potential, and

PLANNING BOARD

Board: Bank lights still spill too much

By Greta Cuyler

Banking regulations do not justify the brightness of the lights at Northmark Bank's new 63 Park St. branch, said Planning Board members Tuesday night.

Members said the lights continue to cause spillage onto adjoining residential properties, violating the bank's special permit and fueling continued complaints from residential neighbors.

"There is more light on this bank than all other banks in town combined," said Paul Salafia, Planning Board chairman. "The bank has been trying to comply, but it just isn't working."

While banks need lights to keep their ATMs and other facilities safe, the Planning Board says the brightness must also fit in with the area.

Attorney Peter Caruso of Andover argued that his client, Northmark, has exceeded the requirements of the special permit and that the bank's goal is to ensure the safety of bank customers, residents and neighbors. "Why are you singling out this particular bank?" asked Caruso.

"The bank has been trying to comply, but it just isn't working."

PAUL SALAFIA
PLANNING BOARD CHAIRMAN

According to Salafia, the board is simply trying to bring the bank into compliance with town requirements, as it did with the Chinmaya Mission on North Main Street during the last year.

The federal Bank Protection Act mandates that all bank vaults be lit 24 hours a day, seven days a week. But planning officials told Caruso the issue is about light spillage onto neighbors' property, not the lighting of Northmark's property. Northmark is operating under a 2004 special permit from the town: condition 21 of the special permit mandates that no exterior light create glare or spill onto adjacent residential property.

"We have condition 21 and you have to comply with that. There's plenty of spillage" said Salafia. "This is not about lighting your property. Look at condition 21 and say, 'How do I fix it?'"

According to Caruso, the bank has seen a "dramatic minimization of lighting," including lamp wattage reduction to 70 watts (five watts below town parking-lot light wattage), shields installed on all lights and additional shields installed within the last couple of weeks. In addition, the bank has extinguished one of the bright lights at the rear of the building.

Sharon Mason, whose property on Chestnut Street sits kitty-corner to the bank's property line, says the bank's lights have dimmed somewhat, but continue to shine directly into her son's bedroom window on the second floor of her house. "The amount of spillage is really amazing," she said.

Caruso said the bank's security lighting was installed after consultation with Andover Safety Officer Robert Cronin to comply with safety laws, plus regulation and liability issues. Cronin was unable to attend Tuesday's Planning Board meeting due to a training conflict. Planning officials requested the bank either obtain a written explanation from Andover Police as to why the bank's lighting needs to be as bright as it is or have an officer appear before the board.

Christine Bensley, a Park Street resident, admired the acorn-style lights the bank has chosen, but said the bank "is lit up like a castle."

Planning officials hope they can come to an agreement with the bank after discussions with Andover Police, either by adjusting the bank's lighting or adjusting the special permit requirements.

107 years of ownership

■ TOWNSMAN SOLD

it has also sold papers.

The Eagle-Tribune Publishing acquisition will give CNHI 91 dailies with a combined circulation of 1 million, Reed said. The daily and Sunday Eagle-Tribune will become its flagship and largest newspaper.

Eagle-Tribune dailies have a combined circulation of 105,958. They include The Eagle-Tribune in North Andover that serves the Merrimack Valley and Southern New Hampshire, The Salem News on the North Shore, the Gloucester Daily Times on Cape Ann and The Daily News of Newburyport at the northeast tip of Masschusetts.

Additionally, Eagle-Tribune Publishing owns the Townsman, the twice-weekly Derry (N.H.) News, the weekly Carriage Towne News of Kingston, N.H., the Haverhill Gazette and Town Crossings in North Andover and Boxford.

The Lawrence Daily Eagle was founded in 1868 and the competing Evening Tribune in 1890. Alexander Rogers, great-grandfather of the current chairman and publisher, was a reporter for the Daily Eagle when he borrowed from his father to acquire the two papers in 1898.

Chip Rogers assumed the role of publisher in 1998 following the death of his father, Irving E. Rogers Jr. Then, in the spring of 2002, Eagle-Tribune Publishing announced the purchase of the Salem, Gloucester and Newburyport dailies.

"Throughout this time, my family has been honored to play a part in building and strengthening the communities we serve," Rogers said. "No question: It's a stewardship."

The Eagle-Tribune is widely known in media circles, having won Pulitzer Prizes in 1988 for disclosing the flawed Massachusetts prison furlough system and in 2003 for breaking news coverage of the Merrimack River drowning tragedy that claimed the lives of four young Latino boys. The paper has also been a finalist for the Pulitzer twice in the past two decades, and was cited this year as the best newspaper in New England in its circulation category by the New England Newspaper Association.

Announcement of the acquisition by CNHI came as a surprise. Rogers said he was not seeking to sell the papers but that several newspaper companies approached him about becoming part of a larger operation with more resources. He said CNHI's commitment to community leadership and local journalism sold him on the idea.

"There are resources that CNHI can and will bring to our papers, and there are resources that we can and will share with CNHI's other papers," Rogers said. "I honestly believe this is a natural and positive step forward for the company's future growth."

Rogers said he did not expect the acquisition to result in layoffs or major changes at the company's papers. He said the papers will function as a division of CNHI, and that both he and Richard Franks, Eagle-Tribune Publishing's president and chief executive officer, will continue on with the new owners.

"I honestly hope you'll come to see this development as I do – not as a negative judgment of any sort but as a next step in meeting the business challenges we face every day," Rogers told the staff.

PAST AND PRESENT

Tax man cometh

Payment of real estate tax bills for the first quarter of fiscal year 2006 is due Monday, Aug. 1. Taxes unpaid after that date are subject to interest charges of 14 percent.

Town Offices at 36 Bartlet St. are open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Payments can be mailed in the envelope provided or dropped in the white mailbox with the blue town of Andover seal in front of the Town Offices. The tax collector's office will also be open Monday, Aug. 1, from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. Residents who have not received a bill, should call the tax collector's office at 978-623-8246 or have any other questions, should call the assessor's office at 978-623-8265.

August health clinics

The Andover Health Department will offer mini clinics on Monday, Aug. 8 from 2 to 3 p.m. at Andover Commons, and on Monday, Aug. 22 from 1 to 2 p.m. at Frye Circle. Senior-center clinics will be held 2 to 3 p.m. each Wednesday, Aug. 3, 10, 17, 24 and 31. No appointment is necessary.

Staying on your feet

Does the fear of falling keep you from doing the things you love? Do you feel dizzy or unsteady? Do your feet become painful and numb?

Robert Ford, physical therapist, will discusses systems of balance, how balance can be improved and how people can decrease their risk of falling, as part of a health series at Marland Place's community room, 15 Stevens St. on Monday, Aug. 8 from 2 to 3 p.m.

According to Marland Place, people rely on multiple systems to maintain their balance. These complicated systems work together to tell a person's body how to balance itself and not fall over. Many factors can lead to balance dysfunction but these factors can be improved upon so that people do not have to accept feeling unsteady. People do not have to live with the fear of falling, says Marland Place.

Contact Michelle Muller of Marland Place at 978-475-4225 for more information. The program is offered by Marland Place Independent & Assisted Living and Gentiva Health Services.

Blood drive Tuesday

The annual Super Summer Blood Drive in Andover is set for Tuesday, Aug. 2 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Andover Town House, 20 Main St.

Donor recruiter Julie Quinn of the American Red Cross said Andover has been a longtime supporter of successful blood drives.

She is looking to collect 150 units of blood at this year's drive. For appointments, call 1-800-GIV-LIFE. All donors will be eligible for a Red Sox ticket raffle, Quinn said.

Peace group remembers A-bomb anniversary with vigil near Raytheon

During the week of Aug. 2 to 9, churches and peace groups in eastern Massachusetts will be commemorating the anniversary of the 1945 bombing of the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Among the activities are church-bell tolling, a worship service, films and vigils.

Several communities will hold vigils dedicated to remembrance of the bombings. One of these will take place in Andover on Tuesday, Aug. 9, near the Raytheon facility at intersection of Routes 93 and 133, from 6:30 to 8:30 a.m.

Merrimack Valley People for Peace is one of the groups sponsoring the effort.

Physicists' building blocks

Kids use Legos to learn, build robots in summer program

By Rita Savard

If Legos had been invented when Albert Einstein was a kid, maybe he would have concluded his theory of relativity at age 16.

While Legos didn't help Einstein, they are helping tomorrow's scientists better understand physics and engineering.

Inside the halls of the Phillips Academy Gelb Science Center, 12 students work with simple building blocks to invent some complex gadgetry. Recording weather data, creating topographical maps and investigating the relationship between space and time are projects explored through the use of Lego robots they build.

Assembling the miniature machines, according to teacher Tom Socci, is the least challenging phase of students' projects.

"Writing the programs that operate the robots is the hard part," Socci said. "Sensors drive the robots to see and feel. This is where students get to be creative."

Organized in teams, students configure the small synthetic bricks in a variety of designs as they seek programs that will drive the robots to run most efficiently.

Surrounded by Lego blocks, the young scientists have all managed to devise a robot unique in aesthetics and function.

One Legobot resembles a landcrusier vehicle out of a science-fiction film.

"This is what happens when a Volkswagen and Hummer get together," jokes Jordan Polk, 16, of Memphis, who laughs with her teammates, Faridi Qaium, 17 of Washington D.C., and Oscar Chiu, 15, of Hong Kong.

Boasting both front and rear bumpers equipped with rotation sensors, Chiu said their creation was tailored for practicality. The students' mission was to write a program that would drive their mapping robot to move five bottles filled with liquid. The robot's power and speed depend on the materials the students choose and how they program them. In the end, deciding between treaded wheels or claws plays a significant role in completing the puzzle.

"We were trying to find a simpler, more efficient way of moving the bottles," said Chiu, explaining the team's decision to implement the use of bumpers over mechanical arms. "Instead of just picking up the (bottles), we can push them away and it's faster."

Constant revisions help strengthen the robot's ability to carry out its specific task.

"Engineering is all about problem-solving and improvising," Socci said. "Learning how to think like something else is a good mental exercise."

Leaders in scientific research at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology would agree, since the school's engineers have helped implement K-12 educational programs designed to teach real-world applications through the use of Legos. The Phillips Academy summer course offering has attracted an eclectic mix of students ranging in ages from 14 to 17, drawn from locations around the globe.

"It's a great way to try out new ideas," said Socci, adding that his class in Lego robotics appeals to students with or without a background in engineering.

By building a mapping robot and leaving it in the school's library overnight, students were able to track the number of people who used the room. Situated outside the library door, light sensors changed each time the door was opened. By reading spikes in light readings, students were able to accurately report their findings.

Adam Rosini, 14, of New Jersey, said his brush with robot technology was not only fun, but should give him an edge over his classmates this fall.

"I'm taking physics and I wanted to get a head start," said Rosini, who is interested in becoming a geneticist someday. "It's been fun working with a bunch of people, building a robot and getting it to actually do what you tell it to."

Military intelligence includes AHS students' info

League of Women Voters to discuss opting out option

By Rita Savard

The names, addresses and telephone numbers of approximately 900 Andover High School students will most likely land on the desks of military recruiters this year - with or without their consent.

Since 2002, a provision buried within 670 pages of the No Child Left Behind Act requires high schools receiving federal money to provide student contact information to military recruiters who demand it. Schools failing to comply with the law can lose federal aid.

Arguing that such a mandate intrudes on students' rights, a group of Andover parents are wondering why they did not learn about the law before this summer. Some are now trying to enlist the help of the superintendent in raising students' awareness on what they're calling a "hidden" subject.

"Parents are afraid students are not aware that this is actually happening," said Peggy Kruse, president of the Andover League of Women Voters. Kruse said enough calls from concerned parents, about half a dozen, has prompted the League of Women Voters to begin planning an open forum for discussion on the topic this fall.

The law provides students the right to withhold their records. But parents upset with the act question how students can exercise a right that they do not know exists, and are seeking more support from the school district to provide students with information on how they can opt out of having their personal information forwarded to recruiters.

"I was very surprised that people seem to be acting sort of passive about the whole issue," said Michael Kempster, whose daughter will be entering her freshman year at AHS in September.

Kempster, who sought more information about students' rights from the League of Women Voters, said a notice he received from the high school announcing the possible release of student information seemed more like "an aside" and included no details on how to opt out of the situation.

Information explaining the school's requirement by federal law to release student directories to recruiters is listed in the Andover High newsletter which is mailed to every student's residence at least twice a year, according to Christine Gould, school registrar.

The notice urges parents who choose to opt out to send a letter to the high school.

"In the years past, we have also had a form for parents to fill out that was sent with the newsletter, but so few people sent it back we stopped sending out the form letter and now just include the notice in our news bulletin," Gould said.

This year, Andover High also will be posting the information on its Web site to target parents who might not read the high school's news. The last notice sent out in a schoolwide mailing was in June, Gould said.

"I have a strong bias that military recruiters should not force their way into the high schools," said Kempster. "Everybody knows how to get to a military recruiter if they want one so there's no reason why they should have to sell themselves that way in a high school situation."

Prior to the provision in the 2002 No Child Left Behind Act, Andover Schools did not release students' contact information to recruiters, according to Marcia O'Neil, assistant superintendent of schools.

"We are now required as a local education authority to circulate that information to military recruiters upon their request," said O'Neil, explaining that the student directories released are for high school juniors and seniors. An enrollment of about 900 juniors and seniors combined is expected for the upcoming school year.

"We have had requests from parents to opt out from having their child's information released and the high school has honored that," added O'Neil. "The Massachusetts Department of Education notes that by providing (student) information, recruiters can also inform students about scholarship opportunities offered through different (service) branches as well."

O'Neil was not sure how many parents have actually requested withholding their students personal information.

"As a parent, you're used to signing form after form to grant your child access to everything. You even have to sign in to gain access inside the school building," said Holly Muscolino, mother of six children, who sent a letter to the superintendent last month, requesting to opt out of the records release. Muscolino is currently working on a similar request to the US Department of Defense. "Nobody told us this information was going to the government. It was clearly intended to be under the radar screen."

Separate from the schools' requirement to release student directories, is another program designed to bolster recruitment efforts. Working in conjunction with commercial data brokers including BeNow Inc. of Wakefield, Mass., the Department of Motor Vehicles and Selective Service registrations, the US Department of Defense has gathered a collective database of personal information from high school students ages 16 to 18 nationwide.

The Pentagon's list of student profiles include birth dates, cell phone numbers, Social Security numbers, e-mail addresses, grade-point averages, ethnicity and areas of study. In June, the database, which is updated daily and distributed monthly to the Armed Services for recruitment purposes, included the names of 30 million 16 to 25-year-olds, according to Lt. Col. Ellen Krenke, a Pentagon spokeswoman.

"Using multiple sources allows the compilation of a more complete list of eligible candidates to join the military," said Krenke, stressing that the Defense Department routinely monitors its vendors to ensure compliance with security standards. "This is hardly a new practice. We've been collecting information on eligible candidates since Congress mandated it in 1982."

Reciting Section 503 of Title 10, United States Code, Krenke stated, "The Congress finds in order for Congress to carry out effectively its constitutional authority to raise and support armies, it is essential that the Secretary of Defense obtain and compile directory information pertaining to students enrolled in secondary schools throughout the United States."

To opt out of the Pentagon's list, parents must send a written request to the Joint Advertising and Marketing Research & Studies Office (JAMRS); Attention: Opt Out; 4040 North Fairfax Drive, Suite 200; Arlington, VA 22203.

Student information will be moved to a "suppression file," said Krenke. The Pentagon retains the information, but does not release it.

To opt out of Andover High School's military recruitment list, parents must send a written request to the superintendent's office.

$20,000 of vandalism

By Jim Patten

A rock-throwing vandalism spree caused an estimated $20,000 damage to cars and homes in Andover early Saturday.

Six Tewksbury teens face criminal charges in the most recent spree. It began on Tewksbury Street in Tewksbury. Police said at least four car windows were broken in Tewksbury before the teens drove into Andover, where they threw football-size rocks through windows of two homes and 13 cars before they were caught.

When Andover officers Stephen Neal and Peter Reming pulled over their 1992 Buick LeSabre, the six teens were inside, along with a pile of large rocks.

One of the six told a reporter the vandalism was a random act.

"We did it and we are sorry," Kevin Ianette, 18, said. "We've never done anything like this. It was random. We are going to take action and pay whatever we have to."

Also charged were Bronson L. Milinazzo, 18; Richard P. Bellofatto, 18; Brian C. Lowe, 19; Ryan P. Berube, 17; and Gregory P. Weisse, 18.

The case is one of several involving teens in Andover and surrounding towns recently. Andover Lt. James D. Hashem said "the two things we seem to see" when vandalism erupts are parents who don't know where their kids are or what they are doing and teens who have nothing constructive to occupy their time.

"They get together. There is nothing to do," Hashem said. "Sometimes there is alcohol involved, and this is what they do to occupy their time."

Tewksbury police were also investigating incidents of vandalism related to the Andover rock-throwing spree. As of Saturday morning four car windows were reported to have been smashed.

Smash-and-grab robbers grip lots

18 incidents in restaurant parking lots

By Judy Wakefield

Local police call it a crime of opportunity and it has also become the crime of the summer.

Andover has been hit hard with a rash of "smash and grabs," where thieves smash car windows and grab whatever they see in the car. It's been happening in the parking lots of two popular restaurants in town, the 99 Restaurant on Lowell Street and the Chateau in West Andover.

Since May 17, there have been 18 reports filed with the Andover police and thousands of dollars worth of valuable high-tech equipment has been reported stolen from cars parked at the two restaurants.

"We call it the crime of opportunity as they look in a car, break a window and grab whatever they see," Andover Safety Officer Robert Cronin said. "It's pretty tough to catch them because they just drive through and do this stuff quickly.

"People should be alert and they should put their laptops, cell phones and whatever else in the trunk. People shouldn't leave things in plain view," he said.

Cronin said police patrols with undercover officers have been beefed up in the two restaurant parking lots, but no arrests have been made. Tewksbury police are working with Andover, as Tewksbury has also been hit with a wave of smash and grabs.

"That Route 133 (Lowell Street) strip is being hit hard," Cronin said. "They hit Andover and then do the same thing in Tewksbury."

Bill Carney, an assistant manager at the 99 Restaurant, said thieves are striking at the busiest time as three cars were broken into last Friday night.

One of those cars was a brand new Nissan Maxima. The Andover owner did not want his last name publicized as a GPS unit and his multi-user cellular phone, which contain some personal information, were stolen.

"There were 12 of us who went to the 99 after work and two of us had our cars broken into," said Adam, a new Andover resident who is a salesman and is on the road a lot. "I expect something like this to happen in a Boston parking garage, not in a town that I live in.

"I feel very violated and I think the restaurants should do more by hanging up signs saying there is a problem."

"People shouldn't leave things in plain view."

POLICE OFFICER ROBERT CRONIN

Frank McCall of Andover, a teacher at West Elementary School, had his Volvo broken into last Friday night. He and his wife, Patricia, were eating dinner at the 99, when thieves broke a car window and stole his briefcase.

McCall was glad to hear Andover police have beefed up undercover patrols. He agreed with Adam's feeling of being violated and said it was unsettling to have "smash and grabs" happening in his hometown.

"I'm glad to hear that this problem is getting some headlines. People need to be made aware," he said.

Two years ago, a similar smash-and-grab routine targeted the parking lot at the new skating rink at Phillips Academy. Several cars were broken into, prompting PA to install security cameras and parking lot lights, Cronin said.

Cronin said the key is to increase public awareness.

"Don't leave laptops, cells and other important personal property in view. Put it in the trunk," he said.

Business

Finally, Main address for candy Queen

Main Street seen as sweet location – even as high rent forces out neighbor

By Judy Wakefield

A candy-store owner who has longed to get more visibility for her downtown business has finally landed a very sweet location.

Mimi Queen, longtime owner of Sweet Mimi's, is moving her business from Post Office Avenue to 94 Main St. She plans to open her new shop at the end of August.

"I was all by myself... no one walked by," Queen said of her Post Office Avenue address, which is a one-way street with limited parking near Elm Square. "I am thrilled to be here and you can put that in capital letters."

The prime retail location of Main Street comes with a high price. While Queen is unpacking, her next-door neighbor says he is packing up and leaving town because of a rent increase.

Body & Soul Nutrition Center at 92 Main St. is closing July 31 as the rent for the 1,000 square-foot space is jumping $500. Business owner Mark Saia said his rent is jumping from $3,000 to $3,500 a month.

"The astronomical rent is putting us out of business," Saia said. "There is no way to have a business with that kind of rent. We couldn't make any money."

Body & Soul Nutrition Center has been on Main Street for the past four years. Saia said he doesn't want to leave town, but the rent is too high.

"There is no way to have a business and survive with this new rent," he said.

Signs reading "a rent increase is forcing us to close July 31," "thanks to our customers" and "everything must go" are currently hanging in the windows of Saia's business.

Queen would not say what she is paying for her new Main Street location, but said her rent will be double what she paid on Post Office Avenue.

Mimi Queen is excited to be moving her candy shop from Post Office Avenue to Main Street, where she expects to see a lot more traffic.

Queen said she has a positive outlook about her new location. She has been quietly looking for a Main Street location for the past five years. But the high rents and large spaces forced her to stay put, she said. When she heard about Geometrics Gallery closing after 14 years on Main Street, she inquired and eventually sealed a deal. At 700 square feet, it's just 20 feet larger than her current business space on Post Office Avenue, so the size was perfect for her, she said.

"But the best aspect of this is the visibility. People walk by and you don't get that on Post Office Avenue," Queen said. "I will have foot traffic and I won't be by myself."

Queen is familiar with the downtown retail scene, as she has worked there for 15 years. She worked at Chocolate by Design on Main Street at the corner of Park Street for 10 years, before its space was rented to Kabloom's, a national flower-store chain. Then, she bought that candy business and opened Sweet Mimi's on Post Office Avenue five years ago while keeping her fingers crossed that a Main Street location would eventually open up.

"People kept telling me, 'Be patient, be patient,' and they were right," she said on Monday afternoon as her new wooden floors were being sanded. "I'm positive about this and I know someone will move in next door very soon."

In addition, she is being reunited with an old business neighbor, Helen Thomas Specialty Store, which also moved from Post Office Avenue to Main Street. That move took place in April 2004 and it has made good sense for the owners.

"Main Street visibility is good," said co-owner Lisa Schiavone. "I loved the charm of Post Office Avenue, but the other end just doesn't have the visibility we have now.

"Parents of the PA (Phillips Academy) kids will be eating at Bertucci's and then come in or they will be walking by and stop in. That doesn't happen at the other end (of Main Street)," Schiavone said.

At 5:18 a.m., a 15-year-old male from Tewksbury was arrested and charged with malicious destruction of property over $250

Tuesday, July 26 - At 1:22 p.m., Victor M. Aquino, 18, of 57 Groton St., Lawrence, was arrested and charged on a warrant for breaking and entering a motor vehicle during the night and possessing an instrument intended for burglary.

INCIDENTS

Wednesday, July 20 - At 2:05 a.m., a motorist flagged down police to report a fight outside an Essex Street home. Police spoke to two people who were "wrestling" outside the house and sent them back inside.

At 2:15 a.m. - Police discovered an open door at a local business during routine security checks. A large safe located behind the counter contained cash and was unsecured, according to police reports. Police held $303 for safekeeping until the owner was contacted to lock up the store.

At 2:36 a.m., an officer reported finding someone sleeping in a car. Police said the subject was a security guard.

At 9:43 p.m., a caller said he came to pick up his vehicle at the Park & Ride when he located a basket of kittens that appeared to be abandoned. The animals were transported back to the station for transport to Andover Animal Hospital in the morning.

At 11:00 p.m., A Warwick Road resident reported three kids in a white sedan were pointing a laser light into his house. Police checked the area and found nothing.

Thursday, July 21 - At 8:45 a.m., a resident reported receiving a call from her ex-boyfriend of one week, who told her he had taken some pills, including sleeping pills. An ambulance was dispatched to the male subject's residence. The ambulance reported no cause to transport.

Friday, July 22 - At 10:50 a.m., a person from the Bradford, Mass. reported an Andover resident stole their identity.

At 6:21 p.m., a resident requested extra checks at the West Parish and Sacred Heart Cemeteries. The person said they believed homeless people were sleeping in both cemeteries at night and people were partying in the woods.

Saturday, July 23 – At 11:23 a.m., a clerk at a Railroad Street business reported a male in a black Honda was taking pictures of cashiers. When an employee approached the subject, he fled. Police filed a report.

At 11:54 a.m., a resident reported a man who looked to be in his mid 40s, was walking down River Road toward the monastery and yelling at people.

At 10:15 p.m., an ambulance was dispatched for a female who had been drinking and ingested 10 unknown pills.

Sunday, July 24 - At 6:24 a.m., an officer assisted the fire department ambulance with transporting a 30-year-old male who appeared to have overdosed on cocaine.

At 10:44 a.m., a resident reported that someone was spraying his trees with a chemical and would not stop. Police said the homeowner next door was new to town and employed a contractor to spray water. Police notified the subject of town bylaws.

BREAKS

Saturday, July 23 - At 8:07 a.m., a caller reported the boiler room at Grandview Terrace had been broken into.

Evaluation for man in high-speed chase

By Dorian Block

A Hudson man who led police on a high-speed chase through downtown Andover last Thursday has been ordered to get mental health treatment and not drive under any circumstances.

Joel Graca, 23, was silent and still as the Lawrence District Court clerk read the 14 charges against him, a contrast to his behavior Thursday, when he allegedly plowed through Andover's streets, struck a police cruiser and at least three other cars, and smashed his head through a police cruiser window.

Graca pleaded not guilty to five counts of assault with a dangerous weapon, his pickup truck; two counts of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon, again his pickup truck; three counts of leaving the scene of property damage, and single counts of malicious destruction of property over $250, resisting arrest, failure to stop for a police officer and negligently operating a vehicle.

Police said around noon last Thursday Graca turned from Salem Street onto Holt Road, which was blocked off for sewer construction. Auxiliary Officer Jack Milne, who was working a detail at the site, offered to give Graca directions to Brooks School, where Graca said he was headed. Instead, Graca drove over a large dirt pile and a trench with workers inside. Officer Kevin Lynch, on the other side of the construction, tried to stop him, but was forced to leap out of the way when Graca sped forward, said police.

A couple of minutes later, two officers stopped Graca's truck near Phillips Academy's hockey rink, but Graca fled as the officers got out of their cruisers. Graca circled the neighborhood, struck one of the cruisers, two parked cars and a utility pole on Chestnut Street.

He sped downtown on North Main Street and hit two more cars. He then turned onto Poor Street and the dead-end Magnolia Drive.

Even after police boxed him into the driveway of 51 Magnolia Ave., the home of Kevin and Deborah Drew, Graca tried to reverse his truck over the

Baby boomers' housing

in town to offer over-55 baby boomers an alternate housing source," said Paul Salafia, Planning Board chairman.

Age-restricted housing is a growing trend in the building industry, according to local developer Bill Perkins. It allows baby boomers to downsize their homes, while also offering amenities that meet the needs of an aging population: first-floor master bedroom, fewer stairs and grab bars. "It is not a monetary thing," said Perkins. "Andover has a wide spectrum of housing, but when you get to be a certain age, you love the town and want to stay. This type of product doesn't exist. Not everyone can afford the high-end condo."

The Giles lived in Andover for more than 20 years, raised three children and owned their own home. But last April they sold their 5,500 square foot home and bought a 3,600 square foot condominium at the Village of Stoneridge in Westford. They now live in a detached, two-bedroom, two-bath condominium with cathedral ceilings and a two-car garage, all located on one floor. The 110-acre community averages one home per acre with lots of open space. The owner of each unit must be over 55.

Over-55 housing is a win-win proposition for the town, said Giles. His community in Westford boasts 108 units on 110 acres. The community has its own water and septic system and the condo association takes care of all snowplowing. "There's not one child here, so there's no drain on the school system. The town gets all the taxes." In fact, the only town services provided to the community are fire, police and trash pickup. Since the average home is worth $500,000, according to Giles, the town gets a financial windfall.

According to Salafia, the proposal has been on the board's front burner since last spring, when they offered to work on a town wide age restricted housing policy instead of addressing one developer's specific request.

"How do you downsize in Andover? You don't," said Giles. "I left there saying to myself 'They don't understand it, they don't really seem to care.'"

Giles says his family's move out of Andover was not a financial decision. After selling his house in Andover for more than $1 million, his main concern was finding a smaller, more modern home. "We were looking around for three years, hoping, waiting for the town to approve (Perkins' plan) to make an over-55 development," said Giles. When the town failed to act, he and his wife moved to Westford.

"We didn't want to leave Andover. Our son graduated from Andover High, he played football at Andover High, he got into Dartmouth because he came out of the Andover school system," said Giles.

Perkins is hopeful the town will resolve the issue of age-restricted housing. "Andover's a great town mainly because of the planning over the last 50 years with its master planning, cluster zoning and large industrial area – those are the things they've been ahead on," he said. "(Age-restricted housing) is one area that I think Andover should embrace."

community's units would be affordable.

- The minimum area for building would be five adjoining acres of land.
- Units could have a maximum of two bedrooms.
- No building would be allowed to exceed 35 feet in height, to be consistent with existing buildings in town.
- Communities would be subject to design standards, to blend into proposed areas.
- At least 25 percent of the land on the property would remain open space.

Town planners came up with the proposal at the urging of residents and developers, and have done extensive research into towns that have this type of housing, including North Andover, Tewksbury, Sudbury, Westford and Cohasset. Town officials see this type of community as an opportunity for families to move into town as older residents downsize their dwellings. "It opens up an older housing stock within the community for families to move into," said Schwarz.

The board does not want more than 231 over-55 housing units, which is two percent of the housing stock in town based on the 2000 census.

Salafia warned that there are still concerns about age-restricted communities. "The other thing we're considering is the whole idea of having age-restricted housing means that you lose the community aspect of a development. You don't have families, young people and old people," he said.

The board's proposal will undergo review by other town departments and then the proposal will be put to the public for discussion.

Opinion

Driving the over-55 issue

DEVELOPERS ARE CERTAIN to attempt to build housing communities geared exclusively for residents older than 55 in Andover. For the town planning department to produce a bylaw setting standards for such developments, as it is now doing, only makes sense.

Some residents fear such developments might ruin their neighborhood, based on the development's size and style. If done correctly, over-55 developments could have some attractive characteristics, both for those living there and elsewhere in Andover.

Andover homes are filled with baby boomers who already or might soon want to move into smaller homes, while remaining in Andover. But given the current housing market, it can be financially difficult for those over 55 to sell their homes and move into suitable places here. Over-55 communities provide new options. They also allow people easier access to those with similar interests. This is a benefit to them, and to the town organizations they help.

Such over-55 communities can also benefit the town as a whole. Over-55 residents tend to use fewer resources while paying their taxes. Those over 55 are unlikely to have children in the Andover schools. The town's lauded system is its largest expenditure.

But most importantly, having over-55 housing consistent with the town's neighborhood standards can give people who have raised their kids in Andover more opportunities to stay in town, in a home that fits their lifestyle.

Web question

Time for over-55 housing here?

Last week's Andover Townsman Web-site question was: Do you support the new state law which will pay family members to provide home care to senior relatives? 34 people responded.

- 22, or 65 percent, said, "Yes, I think seniors would rather live with family than go into a nursing home. Plus, it will save the state money in the long run."
- 1, or 3 percent, said, "Yes. It's a good idea, but I worry that state-funded nursing homes will suffer as a result of less taxpayer support."
- 3, or 9 percent, said "No. "It's a good idea in theory, but family members will not be able to provide the same emergency medical services that seniors often require."
- 5, or 15 percent, said, "No. The state oversight to prevent fraud and ensure care probably will cost more than anticipated, and will not stop all fraud."
- 2, or 6 percent, said "No. The state-funded nursing homes are doing a good job. Let's not fix what isn't broken."
- 1, or 3 percent, said "Other."

This week's Andover Townsman Web-site question is: Town planning officials are now drafting a bylaw to set guidelines for age-restricted housing in Andover. Do you support "over 55" communities being built in town?

- Yes, definitely. Too many of my older friends and neighbors have moved out of town due to the lack of housing geared to them in Andover.
- Yes. I think it's an option that we should provide residents. A lot of people want to downsize their homes as they get older, but aren't ready for assisted living communities.
- No, I don't think there's a need for age-restricted housing in Andover.
- Absolutely not. It would segregate a population of the town and destroy the age diversity that makes this town great.

Pharmacist has rights too

Editor, Townsman:

In regards to the letter "Pharmacists have duty" in the July 21 Townsman Richard Pangonis brings up some very good points. He states that pharmacist Shawn McKallagat does not have a right to force his opinions or beliefs on Pangonis, his customers, or anyone else. He also leans on the fact that we live "in a country with a multitude of diverse religions."

I would agree with Pangonis. In a country where there are many opinions and beliefs, people should be allowed to follow their own opinions and beliefs. People should not be forced to listen to someone else if they do not want to. The beliefs and opinions of others should be respected without intimidation or threat. Finally, we should not be forced into selling what we do not agree with by some legislative body. That is Pangonis' point – even if that someone is McKallagat – isn't it? Or, is Pangonis saying pharmacists shouldn't have these rights also?

Man is listening to his conscience

Editor, Townsman:

One of the things that sets humans apart from animals is that we have a conscience. Congratulations to pharmacist Shawn McKallagat for thoughtfully forming his and attempting to live his life by it. How refreshing! How vastly different from a slew of politicians at the state and federal levels who blindly and predictably follow their standard party line without giving any apparent thought to these issues.

Letourneau's might have lost the likes of Richard Pangonis as a customer but they've gained one in me.

Ruth Auchterlonie still can't figure out how she climbed out of her burning basement.

In the two years since she broke her hip, she has been partially housebound, able to ascend stairs only with someone's help. But as a Feb. 18 fire tore through her 161 Elm St. basement, she climbed the six stairs to safety.

"I remember putting two feet on every step. I'd never gotten out of there on my own before," she said.

"I don't know how she got out. I really don't," says Allen Young, 77, and Auchterlonie's boyfriend of many years. "God was with her. That's all."

Now Auchterlonie is hoping to get back into the home.

For the past five months, Auchterlonie and Young have been living in a trailer – a mobile home with about 440 feet of usable space parked on their driveway. There is one small bedroom on each end of the mobile home, and another room in the middle. They spend most of their hours in this room, a combination kitchen, living room and laundry room.

Auchterlonie and Young don't offer complaints about their current plight. But when pressed, they admit their life has changed.

Their mobile unit is wedged at an angle between their charred home and a neighbor's home, with only inches to spare on each side. The couple is allowed to have the mobile home only because their neighbor was kind enough to give them written permission to use some of his land.

"This is a blessing. We can live here," says Young. "But it's nothing like having your own home. This isn't my way of life, because I lived over there for 30 years."

The wall of the mobile unit's main room has only a clock and a free calendar on it.

"I live in this one room. Live right here in the kitchen. I like to sew. I don't even have a sewing machine now," said Auchterlonie.

Fire is a hungry, indiscriminate animal. It consumes the homes of the rich and poor, the pious and agnostic. Fire Chief Chuck Murnane says about three or four Andover families every year have enough fire damage to their home that they end up without a home to stay in. Like others, Auchterlonie and Young lost mementos and photos, living space and peace of mind.

"I can't watch a (TV) story with a fire. And whenever the fire trucks go by, they bother me," says Auchterlonie. She is wearing her children's clothing because all of hers was destroyed.

"I have two pairs of pants," says Young, looking down at his jeans. "This pair and another pair. And two shirts."

"If you would go in that house right now, you'd pass out and I'm not exaggerating. That place smells in there to gag a maggot," said Young. "I wouldn't wish this on anybody."

The couple consider it a near miracle they were able to escape the blaze that has condemned their home. They praise Matthew MacKenzie, a passerby who helped Young and saved a family pet, and firefighters for their work. But the lives they were familiar with crumbled in the blaze.

Allen has lived in Andover for the last 70 years, Auchterlonie for more than 50. They spent their last 30 years in the 161 Elm St. home, and – before the fire – were living with Auchterlonie's daughter's family there. They are trying to get a town building permit to tear down the charred wreckage of their old home and rebuild a similar one, with handicapped accessible entrances for Auchterlonie. "I don't want a big house. I only want to rebuild what I had," said Young.

If the couple cannot get a permit to rebuild on the existing land, they know they cannot afford to stay in Andover. Ideally, they'd have the new place ready before another tough winter piles snow around Auchterlonie and her trailer.

"That would be a nice Christmas present – to be back in there," says Auchterlonie.

She hopes to one day climb the stairs of an Andover home again. For now, she can only look out the window of her trailer and see what she once had.

"You see fires on TV. You hear about it on the radio. But you never think it will happen to you," she said.

Patrick, a gubernatorial candidate ready for work

Editor, Townsman:

Deval Patrick, a candidate for governor in Massachusetts, recently met with an enthusiastic crowd of more than 130 citizens at the Andover Senior Center.

Patrick inspired the crowd with his message of hope that by everyone working together, great achievements can be made in improving people's everyday lives. He spoke of plans to expand health care to the hundreds of thousands of our family and neighbors who don't have it; of dramatically improving our public schools, not just by endless testing, but by using creative ideas including charter schools and school choice; of getting serious about economic development, and of using our considerable resources to keep jobs in our community. Deval Patrick spoke of wanting to do the work of government, not just in holding an office or title.

Judging from the audience response, Deval Patrick has a lot to offer and folks were just plain excited. He is the real deal.

Damn Yankees!

No Jeter, Giambi or Sheffield – It's the Summer Theater Ensemble at the Collins Center

By Greta Cuyler

RED SOX NATION thrives in Andover. So it seems only fitting that the Summer Theater Ensemble chose the play Damn Yankees as its summer performance this year.

The play's plot, based on the book by George Abbott and Douglass Wallop, revolves around a lovable but losing baseball team and the diehard fans who hope and pray for a victory over those 'damn Yankees.' It opened on Broadway in 1955.

Elly Seavey, a reading specialist at South Elementary School and co-director and producer of this year's performance, says her production's lovable losers, the Washington Senators, will be replaced by – who else? – the Boston Red Sox, reflecting Boston's sweet victory over the Yankees in last year's World Series Championship.

"The plot – it's light. The music is wonderful. Everyone knows the music and I think it can appeal to all generations," says Seavey. Twenty-seven Andover students, ranging from seventh to 10th grade, will perform the musical at the Collins Center on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 5 and 6 at 7:30 p.m. Seavey's co-director and co-producer is Kathy Abisso.

For the past three years, resident Zach Zatet, 15, has been part of the ensemble, which is run through the Department of Community Services.

"I really like it because it's a group," he says. "It doesn't matter how big a part you have, everyone's equal and the play focuses on everyone, not just the leads."

It is important that younger children have an artistic outlet during the summer, says Seavey. "For those who don't go away, they might not have something that would give them focus and they might not be able to get together with other kids. This is something for the population of students who want to be involved in the arts."

The theater ensemble takes up residence in the Collins Center every summer. Beginning in early July, the program is an all-day youth program that lasts for four weeks, culminating in a theater performance. Students auditioned for roles in March and the play was cast in June. This year's performance will feature a 10-piece orchestra. Proceeds from the play will pay the professional staff and fund the production.

"I've been in school plays, but this is my first professional production," says Joe Thibodeau, 13, of Andover. "It's a great experience to meet a lot of people."

Hot Halloween: All sizzle, no sugar

By Rita Savard

WHEN SHELLY GOLDSTEIN answered her doorbell, she was not expecting to find Batman, Wolverine, and "Clownakin" Skywalker standing on her porch.

"I thought it might be a singing telegram at first," laughs Goldstein.

Her next thought was deja vu. The costume-clad kids called out "Trick-or-treat."

Once the long, hot days of summer roll in, Andover neighborhoods can begin to resemble ghost towns in the eyes of kids staying close to home. Finding relief from temporary bouts of boredom sometimes requires getting creative.

"We just wanted to do something crazy."
TOM FLANNERY, 12

For one group of Andover kids, celebrating Halloween in July last Thursday seemed like the answer.

"We just wanted to do something crazy," said Tom Flannery, 12, of Mercury Circle. After rummaging through his attic for old costumes, Tom, along with friends Chris George 13, and Patrick Farnham,13, went on a quest for some sugary loot. Patrick was the mastermind behind the plan.

A fourth accomplice, self-described as "the coolest kid in Andover," chose to remain anonymous to uphold his perceived image. The Andover boys all play hockey in the Pee Wee Ones league.

After knocking on neighbors' doors, the gang discovered one major drawback to jump-starting the autumn holiday: their sweet tooth was left wanting.

"All we got are these chocolate Hanukkah candles," Chris joked.

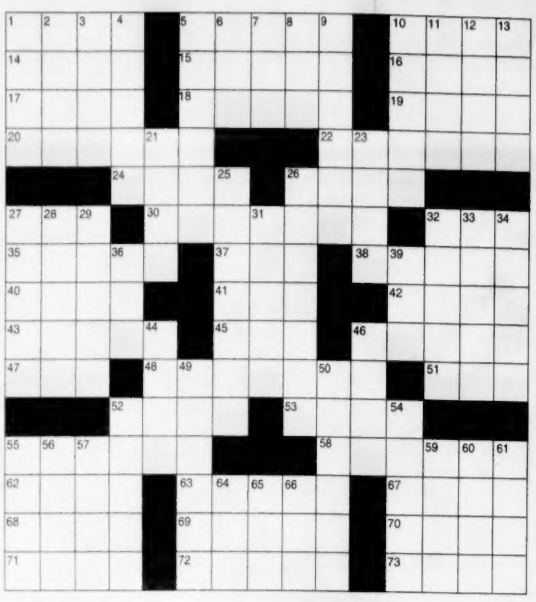

"I thought it was hilarious," said Goldstein. "They're out having fun and it seems like a good idea for a slow summer's day. I'd say we're probably looking at some future candidates for TV."

Showcasing their work are some of the artists who collaborated on an exhibit of journals at Memorial Hall through Aug. 31. Standing (from left) are: Laura Gawlinski and Gay Tracy; (seated) Linda Dunn, Margot Stage and Maxine Farkas.

Have Journal, Will Travel

A Journey of Journals is a traveling exhibit of handmade artist books on display at Memorial Hall Library through Aug. 31.

Maxine Farkas of Lowell initiated this collaborative project among 10 area artists late last fall when she was teaching at Friends Fabric Art in Lowell.

Each artist made a blank book (or altered an existing journal), chose a theme, and created the cover and the first spread of pages in their own book. Then every two weeks, the books were passed secretly from artist to artist, and the results were not to be revealed until the project was done. While each artist could see the work the previous artists had done, they never saw their own book again until months later when the circular journey was complete.

Andover resident Laura Gawlinski's book theme is "A Love Letter to Mother Nature," and Gay Tracy of North Andover chose "Dreams." The other artists' book themes include "Water," "Night," "Travel," "Time to Dance," "Circles," "Urban Landscapes," "The Essence," and "Time/Change."

In addition to Gawlinski and Tracy, participating artists include Karen Bettencourt of Woburn, Linda Dunn of Cambridge, Margot Stage of Westford, and Maxine Farkas, Sharon Sawyer, Gwen Stith, Ann Lee and Sonja Lee, all of Lowell. Eight of the artists work together as the Lowell Fiber Studio and will conduct workshops on fabric and fiber-related art at the new Western Avenue Studios in Lowell beginning in August. Western Avenue Studios will hold an open-studios event Sept. 24-25.

There will be a reception at Memorial Hall Library on Tuesday, Aug. 9 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. when the artists' books will be removed from the glass cases so people can have a chance to examine and read them.

For more information, contact Laura Gawlinski at 978-475-0135.

Getting the 'ensemble spirit'

■ 'DAMN YANKEES'

Seavey says the group aims to chose ensemble performances. "It's important to us that each actor has a meaningful role," she says, adding that ensembles allow for minor cast additions to accommodate the number of student participants.

Last year, the group performed Grease.

"The kids really have the ensemble spirit. They really care about each other, support each other and know that every act is dependent on one another," says Seavey

For Rudhdi Karnik, 14, of Andover, this year's show is an opportunity to perform in her first musical. "I just like being in plays," she says. "I love to sing."

Tickets are $10 and are available at the door the night of the show; in advance, at the DCS office in Town Offices, 36 Bartlet St., and at Learning Express on Park Street; or from members of the cast.

The Valley Players are performing the sentimental comedy Butterflies Are Free at the Amesbury Playhouse Dinner Theater. This is a heartwarming tale of a blind man's attempt at independence as he moves into the big city. He has a lovely, feisty female (Jenna-Lee Cusack as Jill Tanner) next door neighbor, and a loving-yet-controlling mother who is not quite ready to let her son (Nathan Daniels as Don Baker) go it alone. Butterflies Are Free runs for two weeks starting today, July 28 through Aug. 7. Shows are Thursday – Sunday with a Wednesday matinee on Aug. 3. Reservations are required. Prices for the show are $12-$17 and $26-$44 for dinner and show combo. Full bar and appetizer menu available. To make reservations, or for more information, call the Amesbury Playhouse at 978-388-9444, or click www.amesburyplayhouse.com.

Sydney sails

On the other side of the world, in the land down under, is the city of Sydney.

Sydney is the largest city in Australia, with four million residents. Canberra is the capital of Australia.

Sydney is one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Life revolves around water. Residents spend a lot of time on beaches, in sailboats or enjoying seafood.

When people think of Sydney, most think of the attractions at the harbor. (Or harbour as they spell it in Australia.)

The most prominent landmark is the Sydney Opera House. It was built over a period of 20 years and opened by Queen Elizabeth II in 1973. The architect designed the building with the ocean in mind. The rounded peaked white roofs remind some people of sails or seashells.

Theater, classical music, ballet, film and operas are performed year round. Great windows overlook the harbor and theatergoers can watch sailboats and ferries cross the water while they listen to music.

From the opera house you can see the Sydney Harbor Bridge. The bridge was completed in 1932 and spans the entire harbor. It is 3,773 feet long, 440 feet tall and carries 160,000 vehicles a day! The bridge is on television every New Year's Eve because Sydney launches its fireworks show from it.

Australians enjoy sports. During the summer of 2000, Sydney hosted the Olympic games. People from all over the world came to Australia to see the competitions. Australians rallied behind 17-year-old Ian Thorpe who won three gold and two silver medals in swimming competitions.

They are also big fans of sports Americans don't know much about. They have their own sport called Aussie Rules football that is similar to rugby but played on a cricket field.

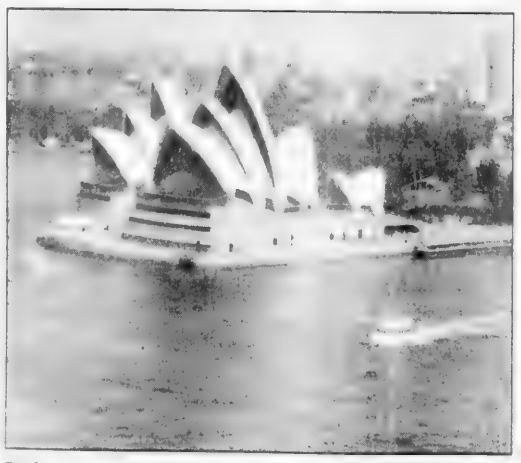

Speaking of rugby, that's a favorite of Aussies as well. It's like a combination of football and soccer and they take it very seriously.

Australia hosted the Rugby World Cup in 2003. People came from around the world to root their country's team to victory. The United States had a team in the competition, but the squads with the best chance for victory were England, France, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand. England beat Australia 20-17 in Sydney for the championship.

The zoo in Sydney displays many of the animals for which Australia is famous. You can look at kangaroos, koala bears, wallabies, wombats, Tasmanian devils and platypuses.

Australia is a friendly country and an ally of the United States.

It started off in a very odd way. The country was a colony of Great Britain, which used it as a prison settlement. During the 1700 and 1800s, convicted prisoners were sent to Australia by courts in England. Once they served their time, they were free to do what they wished in the new country. Many became prosperous. Australia is now independent, but it is still closely allied with Great Britain.

The Sydney Opera House is located in Sydney Harbor.

Which two sailboats are the same?

Do the math

The Sydney Opera House opened how many years ago?

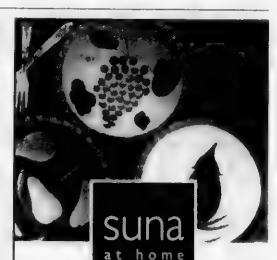

How many vehicles an hour travel on the Sydney Harbor Bridge?

How many pages does this newspaper have?

Signing up for safe driving

Area programs help teen drivers to maneuver around trouble

By Lauren Underhill
What's Up contributor

In the 15 miles-per-hour parking lot of Lucent Technologies in North Andover last Sunday, teenage drivers were found skidding at speeds up to 60 mph. Their parents made them do it.

"My dad signed me up," said 17-year-old Molly Baird of Andover. Baird participated in Skid School, a program sponsored by the Massachusetts State Automobile Dealers Charitable Foundation. It was designed to teach new drivers skills and techniques necessary for accident avoidance and emergency situations on the road.

During the four-hour course, teens sped new Volvo S40s around, performing various maneuvers to gain knowledge of how an automobile is meant to handle.

"It was fun to explore the handling capability of the automobile," said Matt Bagnell, whose favorite activity was the slalom course. He was surprised at how well the cars handled while swerving around cones at about 50 mph, he said.

Other drills included an anti-lock brakes (ABS) panic stop, tailgating, backing up, and an emergency lane change. Baird said learning about the anti-lock-brake capabilities was helpful. "I usually think you take longer to break. This taught me I can do it that quickly," she said. This knowledge was gained when instructors told her to speed the car up to about 50 miles-per-hour and then slam on the brakes as hard as possible before smashing into a row of fluorescent orange cones.

Nancy Bagnell laughed as her son Matt spun out of control in the slalom course, crediting her younger son Dan as the better slalom driver. Onlooking parents were confident in placing their children's safety in the hands of the highly trained coaches, many of whom race cars as a hobby.

Sandy Stevens, who owns and runs the school, emphasizes the importance of parents' involvement. Nancy Bagnell said she read about Skid School years earlier and decided her sons should take the course together after Dan got his license recently.

"The driver we want is the one who got their license yesterday, because they are the most at risk," Stevens said. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, automobile crashes are the leading cause of death among teens today. Forty-two percent of 16-year-olds in Massachusetts are involved in accidents, which is three times more than 18- or 19-year-olds, and eight times more than 25-year-olds.

Coach Peter Morrison said younger drivers are the best students because "they don't have any bad habits" and can be taught the correct way right off the bat.

The same techniques students learn in Skid School have been taught to ambulance drivers, state police, firefighters and corporations by Stevens Advanced Driver Training, which is based in Merrimack, N.H. Stevens has been doing this type of training for the last 20 years.

The program's popularity is growing, with a goal of training 1,000 students this year. The $300 course is sponsored by the Massachusetts Auto Dealers Charitable Foundation, bringing the cost down to $150 for Massachusetts residents. Many sessions, like the one last Sunday, are also sponsored by a local dealership, which lowers cost to $100 per student.

Stephen Bartlette from Ira Dealers in Danvers said Ira, which started out as a family business, feels obligated to give back to the community. As he witnessed the day's events, he said, "I think this is great. I wish they did this as part of drivers' education."

A certificate of completion from Skid School could result in a 5 percent discount off car insurance in the future. According to Martha Bartle, foundation manager of the Massachusetts Auto Dealers Charitable Foundation, a bill is waiting to be passed by the legislature to give participants in this program the discount.

Beside costs, finding suitable locations to accommodate the event is an issue. The Lucent Technology site is provided by Ozzy Properties.

Stevens credits Ellen Keller from Ozzy Properties for finding it. "If kids in Andover and North Andover don't crash, its because of her," Stevens said. The Andover Service Club is also pivotal in finding locations for Skid School.

For more information, or to register, visit the Web site at www.skidschool.org.

Commerce Insurance Co. and the In Control Advanced Driver Training Program have launched a public awareness program targeting teen drivers. Pictured, from left, are Peter Dignan, Commerce senior vice president of marketing; Ian Wallis, In Control ADT CEO; Colleen Carr, a Kingston mother who lost a teenage son in a car accident two years ago; Committee on Public Safety Co-Chairman and State Rep. Bradford Hill (R-Ipswich); Jeffrey Helm of Atlantic Advisers Insurance Inc. whose agency represents Commerce Insurance; and Andover Police Chief Brian Pattullo.

Teaming up to educate local drivers

In an attempt to reduce the number of accidents among teenage drivers, Commerce Insurance Company has teamed up with In Control Advanced Driver Training (ADT) to educate young drivers using advanced driver training techniques. The program is supported by Andover police chief Brian Pattullo.

Beginning immediately, independent agents that represent Commerce Insurance will be able to share information about the program with their customers who have newly licensed individuals in their family, and encourage them to participate in an In Control ADT training session. Research shows that advanced driver training programs reduce the number of crashes among new drivers by more than 70 percent.

Book Review

Night

BY ELIE WIESEL

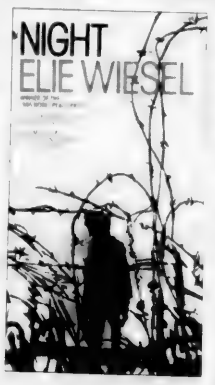

Reviewed by John Chartier and James Caron

With this review, John and James recommend this book for readers 13 and older because of disturbing imagery and chilling, true accounts of the Holocaust.

IMAGINE BEING SEPARATED FROM your family and imprisoned. Imagine a life where every crumb of food is brutally fought over, and every breath is taken amidst shrouds of jealousy. This nightmare takes place in a world where some people are considered to be better than others, and some lives are more valuable than others – and those considered less valuable need to be eliminated as soon as possible.

As horrifying as this may sound, it is the truth behind the Holocaust, the systematic extermination of Jews and other groups by Nazi Germany. The novel Night by Elie Wiesel is a chilling story of one prisoner's tribulations throughout his life at the concentration camp.

When Elie's family is deported to a Nazi concentration camp, he has no idea that his life is about to come crashing down around him. Soon, his family is split up, he is forced to work for nothing but a meager serving of soup and a small piece of bread, and he needs to cling onto life with every last ounce of his being. He will learn that he has to rely on his father as his only source of support, but he does not realize that he has more of an impact on his father than he ever thought he could.

Night is Elie Wiesel's inspirational story of how the human spirit has the power to prevail over any evil that life throws towards us. It is a powerful piece of literature that is sure to leave a lasting impression on the reader for a long time to come.

We recommend Night for readers who are 13 years of age and older, because of some disturbing images and accounts of horrifying acts on the part of the Nazi soldiers. This is a novel for readers who are partial to any genre, especially historical fiction.

We give Night by Elie Wiesel a rare 10 out of 10. It is an amazing piece of literature that grasps the very essence of the Holocaust and forces the reader to experience the same fear, anxiety, and panic that gripped the Jews in the concentration camps. It is truly a novel that the reader cannot come away from without having gained a little piece of wisdom or insight into a subject that is often more than mysterious.

Wiesel's voice is such a great example of literary talent, not only because of his innate ability to convey details through sometimes vague passages, but because the book is reality. It makes the novel all the more impressive to know that all of the trouble that the main character experiences really happened to countless individuals who were held captive by the Nazis.

Night by Elie Wiesel is required reading in some of the English classes at Andover High School. It is irrefutable that even if one does not attend AHS, he or she will still be able to come away with something profound from the book.

So head on down to your local bookstore or library and pick up Night by Elie Wiesel today. Be sure to be thankful for everything you have today, because you never know what your life will be like when you step out of your front door tomorrow.

Amy Wetterskog, a member of the class of 2006 at Wells College in Aurora, N.Y., has been named to the dean's list for the spring semester.

Wetterskog is the daughter of Alison and Jerry Wetterskog of Andover.

To be eligible for dean's list, a student must carry a semester GPA of 3.5 or better and take a minimum of 12 letter-graded hours (four courses).

The following Andover students enrolled in the Martin J. Whitman School of Management at Syracuse University were named to the dean's list for the spring semester: Sheri Bernstein, majoring in marketing management; and Laura O'Connell, majoring in finance and advertising.

To qualify for the dean's list, students must achieve at least a 3.4 grade-point average (on a 4.0 scale) during the semester.

Christopher DeLorenzo, a freshman from Andover majoring in communications design, is enrolled in the College of Visual and Performing Arts at Syracuse University. He was named to the dean's list for the spring semester.

To qualify, students must achieve at least a 3.4 grade-point average (on a 4.0 scale) during the semester.

The following students enrolled in the College of Human Services and Health Professions at Syracuse University were named to the dean's list for the spring semester: Anna Floreen, a senior majoring in child and family studies; and Elizabeth Muscolino, a freshman majoring in nutrition.

To qualify, students must achieve at least a 3.4 grade-point average (on a 4.0 scale) during the semester.

Mark Margiotta, an Eagle Scout with Troop 77 in Andover, was awarded a $500 scholarship by the Yankee Clipper Council Eagle Scout Association at the council's annual meeting and awards dinner on June 16.

Margiotta is a recent graduate of Phillips Andover Academy. His activities included the engineering club, baseball, squash and the debate club.

Margiotta will attend Georgetown University in the fall, where he will study at the McDonough School of Business concentrating in high finance or business management. His plans also include attending graduate school to earn an MBA.

The following Andover students were named to the dean's list at Salem State College for the spring academic semester: Nicole M. Brown, Kelly-Anne Couture, Jeanne M. Kenny and Daniel P. Luther.

Students are required to carry 12 credits or more and attain a grade-point average of at least 3.0 to be placed on the dean's list.

Two students were among those named to first honors on the Clark University dean's list.

David S. Rainen of Andover is a member of Clark University's class of 2005 who studies psychology. Rainen attended Andover High School.

Evan M. Stuart of Worcester, who is also a member of Clark University's class of 2005, studies psychology. Stuart also attended Andover High School.

This selection marks outstanding academic achievement during the spring semester.To be eligible for first honors, students must have a grade-point average of 3.8 or higher, of a maximum of 4.3 (all A+ grades).

Thomas D. Valleau of Andover, a member of Clark University's class of 2007, has been named to second honors on the dean's list:

Valleau attended Andover High School.

To be eligible for second honors, students must have a grade-point average of 3.5 or higher.

Emily Pallotta, a student at Andover High School, is the winner of the Springfield College Book Award. In a presentation at the school, Pallotta received a leather-bound copy of Miriam Webster's Collegiate Dictionary.

The book award honors a high school junior whose personal values and aspirations reflect the Springfield College philosophy of humanics, which stresses education of the whole person in spirit, mind and body for leadership in service to others. Pallotta, who was chosen by the Andover High School Award Committee, demonstrated an exemplary record of service to the school and the community-at-large.

Pallotta was one of 44 students in 11 states chosen for Springfield College book awards and will also be entitled to a waiver of Springfield College application and enrollment fees.

Two Phillips Academy students brought silver and bronze medals home from the International Physics Competition. All five students who competed in this year's International Physics Olympiad in Salamanca, Spain, were awarded medals July 11 in a closing ceremony.

US high-schoolers passed several levels of exams, completed a rigorous training camp at the University of Maryland, College Park, Md., and then competed against students from 74 other countries July 3-11.

Silver medal winner was Nickolas Fortino, a senior at Phillips Academy.

Bronze medal winner was Daniel Whalen, a junior at Phillips Academy.

The US Physics Olympiad Program was started in 1986 by the American Association of Physics Teachers to promote and demonstrate academic excellence.

Bradford Whiting of Andover has been recognized on the dean's list at Norwich University in Northfield, Vt. for maintaining a 3.0 or higher GPA for the spring semester.

Whiting is majoring in criminal justice.

Nicholas Culver studied in England for the 2004-05 academic year, at the London School of Economics and Political Science.

A junior at Connecticut College in New London, Conn., Culver is one of many students to take advantage of the study-away options offered each year by the college.

Culver, a 2002 graduate of Andover High School, is the son of Sandy Culver and Pamela Bloomfield of Sagamore Drive.

Merrimack College recently announced those students named to the college's spring dean's list.

To be named to the dean's list, a student must achieve a 3.25 grade-point average based on a 4.0 grading system.

Merrimack dean's list students from Andover include: Amy Brennan, Virginia Carroll, Christopher Cataldo, Grace Farnham, Ashley Heller, Adam Martel, Kelly McLaughlin, Jessica Neal, Yen Nguyen, Caitlin Sermos, Stacey Walsh and Bruno Zanotti.

Astra Lowery, a sophomore from Andover, has been named to the Luther College dean's list for the spring semester of the 2004-05 academic year.

Lowery, the daughter of Burrell and Catherine Lowery of Andover, is majoring in elementary education at Luther. She is a 2003 graduate of North Andover High School.

To be named to the dean's list, a student must earn a semester grade-point average of 3.5 or better on a 4.0 scale.

Luther is a four-year college located in Decorah, in northeast Iowa.

Gregory Alexander Booth of Andover achieved second honors for academic accomplishments during the spring semester.

Undergraduates receiving second honors earned a grade-point average of 3.7 or better on a 4.0 scale.

Booth is one of only 1,052 Georgetown University undergraduate students in Washington, D.C., recognized with second honors.

American Legion baseball

Andover Post 8 races back to the finals

11-10 victory clinches a berth for '04 champs in the 2005 State Tournament finals

By Rick Harrison

They found a way to win.

Champions always do.

With the bases loaded in the bottom of the 10th, Joel Keefe lined a 1-1 pitch to right field and Zach O'Donnell raced home with the winning run to propel the Andover Post 8 American Legion baseball team to a pulsating 11-10 victory over Peabody Tuesday evening at Peter Aumais Park.

The victory clinched a berth in the 2005 Massachusetts State Tournament finals, which begin this Saturday at Fino Field in Milford.

The reigning state champs open play in the double-elimination tourney on Saturday with a first-round game against either Sandwich or Fairhaven.

It's the second game of the day and will start at approximately noon – or a half-hour after the first game (9 a.m.) ends.

Keefe's clutch hit in the winner-take-all third game of a best-of-3 second round Sectional series versus Peabody provided a fitting finish for Post 8, which came from behind in three of five Sectional games and won twice in extra innings against Lowell Post 87 and Peabody.

"Our kids wouldn't be denied," said Andover manager Joe Iarrobino, drained from five nailbiting games in seven days.

"They never stopped believing they could do it – even when we were two outs from elimination against Peabody."

Post 8 trailed 4-0 after two innings, 9-6 after seven and 10-9 before tying it in the ninth and winning in the 10th.

"When the season started our major goals were to win the district – and get to Milford with a chance to defend our state title," said Iarrobino following a post-series pizza party at the Iorio home. "It wasn't easy – but we did it.

"I can't say we played our best baseball all the way through these two series. We scored a lot of runs but also gave up a lot. Our defense wasn't as sharp as usual."

Iarrobino also noted last year's success put a huge bull's-eye on this team's back.

"I don't know if there's been a lot of pressure on us this summer. But I think a lot of people expected us to be where we are – after losing only three players from a team that won it all."

Zone 8 rivals Andover and Peabody locked up for three games in three days after both swept opening Sectional series, Post 8 eliminating Lowell Post 87 and Peabody ousting Newton.

The second series did not start well for Andover as Peabody bolted to an early 10-run lead in the opener at Peabody High – and held on for an 11-8 victory that snapped a seven-game Andover win streak.

Post 8 rebounded just 24 hours later, behind lefty ace Dan Godefroi and stopper Tom Arrigg, squaring the series with a backs-to-the-wall 4-2 triumph in stifling temperatures at Aumais Park.

That set up the decisive third game which drew a crowd of several hundred spectators to Aumais Park Tuesday evening.

Andover catcher Tim Hughes chases down Lowell's Matthew Lawler during Andover's 11-7 win against Lowell. Andover swept the best-of-3 series in the opening round of the American Legion playoffs.

In the opening two-game sweep of Lowell Post 87, Andover fell behind 5-1 early in both contests before rallying for 8-7 and 11-7 victories.

Tim Hughes' two-run double in the top of the 10th inning was the game-winning stroke in the opener at Stoklosa/Alumni Field in Lowell.

A strong relief stint by 16-year-old lefty Kevin Calabro, a first-year Legion player who blanked Lowell on two hits over the final 2 2/3 innings, was the key to the second-game triumph as Paul Malaguti, Ryan Shepard and Hughes collected two RBI each at Aumais Park.

This marked the sixth time in Andover manager Joe Iarrobino's 17-year tenure that Andover and Lowell met in the sectionals, including last year when Post 8 also swept the series in two games.

"We've had some memorable and exciting series with Lowell," said the manager. "This one was no different."

The 2005 district title is the 12th for Andover in the past 17 summers, and this is the 14th time the locals have qualified for the playoffs over that stretch.

They have reached the State Tournament Final 8 for the eighth time – with last summer's state title the first in the program's history.

Andover has now won 30 of its last 33 games against in-state competition, dating back to last year when Post 8 captured its last two regular season games, swept two best-of-3 state tourney preliminary round playoff series and went 5-1 in the state finals (only loss to Norwood).

Post 8 went 15-2 in district games last summer – one of the setbacks 1-0 to the Swampscott Mariners and the other to Revere. The only regular-season loss this year was to Swampscott, 12-11.

The current 18-player roster includes 13 veterans from the 2004 Legion squad, which finished 26-5, and nine who completed an 18-4 season with Merrimack Valley Conference Division 1 and North 1 titlist Andover High.

"We couldn't do it without (assistant coaches) Kevin (Rourke) and Keith (Grant)," noted Iarrobino. "They're a tremendous asset."

Both are former Post 8 players, Rourke in his 12th year and Grant his sixth on the Andover staff.

State Tournament

Andover enters the Final 8 with a 21-2 overall record, and the locals have outscored the opposition by a wide 200-92 margin this summer.

At presstime, six qualifiers in the eight-team field were known, the others Zone 8 rival Lynn Gautreau, Milton, Walpole, Grafton Hill and traditional Central Mass. Legion power/host Milford Post 59.

Sandwich and Fairhaven were playing a third game in their series to determine the seventh team.

The double-elimination tourney will continue through the end of next week.

If Andover wins its Saturday opener, it will play again Sunday night at 7 p.m. A loss puts the locals back in loser's bracket action Sunday at noon.

Either way the opponent will not be known until all first-round results are in Saturday night.

The state champ goes to the Legion Northeast Regionals in Warwick, R.I. the second week of August.

Andover placed third at the 2004 Legion Tournament, bowing out to Portland, Maine, that went on to win the National title with a perfect 5-0 record at the finals in Oregon.

Injury report

Outfielder/catcher P... Shepard suffered a pulled hamstring muscle ... the opening game of the Peabody series.

He sat out the second game before returning as a pinchhitter in the ... inning of the third game, laying down a perfect safety squeeze bunt that tied the game and ... extra innings.

His ... for the State Tournament won't be known until Saturday.

"He's been taking (whirlpool) treatments at Merrimack (College), and was operating at about 75 percent in the third Peabody game," said Iarrobino.

STATE SECTIONAL PLAYOFFS
SECOND ROUND
GAME 3
Andover 11
Peabody 10
(10 innings)

Tom Arrigg improved to 4-0 after pitching 4 1-3 innings of gritty six-hit relief, holding Peabody to one run while Post 8 mounted its final late-game comeback.

"Tommy's a warrior and the playoffs are his time to shine," said Iarrobino. "He did the same thing last year – pitching in four straight games. When the bell rings in the post-season you can always count on him."

After Peabody bolted to a quick lead with four runs in the second, Post 8 countered with six in the bottom of the third.

It all happened with two outs, after a K and flyout, as consecutive singles by Zach O'Donnell to center, Paul Malaguti to right-center and Dan Godefroi (RBI) to left-center put Andover on the board.

Joel Keefe walked to load the bases and Matt Hogan ripped a two-run single up the middle.

Tim Hughes then hammered a gargantuan three-run homer over the fence in right-center to put Post 8 ahead, 6-4.

"That was a certifiable bomb," said Iarrobino. "It had to travel at least 400 feet in the air."

Hughes' first homer of the season – and the team's fourth – bounced over several cars and rolled into the street.

Peabody, which finished the season 16-5, regained the lead with three runs in the fifth and two in the top of the sixth.

Never-say-die Andover came back with two in the last of the sixth to make it 9-8.

Matt Iorio was hit in the back with a pitch.

AMERICAN LEGION BASEBALL

■ STATE SECTIONAL PLAYOFFS

Kevin Calabro walked, Andrew Hennessy was plunked on the shoulder to load the bases and O'Donnell lashed a two-run single down the right field line.

The rivals traded runs in the eighth. Post 8 scorong with two outs as O'Donnell walked, stole second and raced home on Malaguti's single to left-center.

Trailing 10-9 in the ninth, the locals were down to their final two outs when Hogan smacked a single to center and stole second. Hughes walked and Iorio was hit the back for the second time in the game.

Enter a slightly-hobbled Ryan Shepard (hamstring pull) as a pinch-hitter, dropping down a tying safety-squeeze bunt to plate Hogan.

Arrigg surrendered an infield single to start the Peabody 10th, but an attempted sac-bunt resulted in a force at second before a popout to O'Donnell and strikeout kept the score tied at 10.

"When our kids came in for the bottom of the 10th they were really pumped up," said Iarrobino. "Everyone was sky-high and you could sense something good was going to happen."

Operating on his own, leadoff batter O'Donnell laid down a perfect bunt to get the rally started.

"It was an absolutely beautiful bunt," said Iarrobino. "You couldn't have placed it any better if you rolled the ball out there."

O'Donnell promptly stole second, and took third when Malaguti dropped a sac-bunt and beat it out for a hit. He then stole second and Godefroi was intentionally walked to load the bases.

"That's the kind of baseball we love to play," said Iarrobino. "Put the pressure on the defense."

That set the stage for Keefe's ringing RBI single to right.

"The intention all along was to let Joel swing away – and it worked out," said Iarrobino.

O'Donnell, Malaguti and Hogan led the 13-hit attack with three safeties each, while Hughes doubled and homered.

O'Donnell reached base five times altogether, adding a walk and hit by pitch, and scored three runs.

Third baseman Malaguti and centerfielder Calabro played well defensively.

Chris Judd drove in three runs and Mike Gallo two for Peabody, while Sean O'Hara (triple, RBI) and Jay Banos (RBI) laced two hits each. Mike Jackson added an RBI triple and scored twice.

GAME 2
Andover 4
Peabody 2

Post 8 scored two runs in both the first and fourth innings, and rode the arms of Dan Godefroi and Tom Arrigg to victory to square the series.

Godefroi (5-0) scattered eight Peabody singles over the first seven innings, fanning seven and issuing no walks (he has walked only one batter all summer).

"We took Danny out because he'd thrown 109 pitches – which is pretty close to his limit," said Iarrobino. "It was so hot and humid that day. He was taking deep breaths – and Arrigg was ready – so the move was a no-brainer.

"And, as I said before, these are the situations Tommy thrives on. He loves it."

Arrigg yielded one bloop single over the final two frames, whiffing three and walking one to pick up his second and most important save.

With two outs in the Post 8 first, Godefroi singled to center, Joel Keefe singled to left-center and Matt Hogan lined a two-run single up the middle.

Peabody tied it with two runs in the second.

"The second was our jinx inning in this series," said Iarrobino, whose team allowed 13 runs in that stanza over the three games.

The locals capped the scoring in the fourth without benefit of a hit.

Hogan reached on a third-strike wild pitch, Tim Hughes walked and Matt Iorio laid down a sac-bunt.

With two outs, Hogan trotted home with the winning run on a balk before an infield error plated Hughes with the insurance.

Godefroi finished with two hits, including a triple, as Post 8 managed just five safeties in the game.

Peabody threatened in the seventh, putting two aboard with no outs (error, single) before two flyballs to centerfielder Kevin Calabro and a line drive to shortstop Zach O'Donnell who made a nice grab in the hole.

In the eighth, Arrigg fanned the first two batters before a bloop single and groundout to short.

He retired the first two hitters in the ninth, on a grounder and strikeout, before a walk again brought the tying run to the plate. The game then ended on a fielder's choice grounder.

Shortstop O'Donnell and third baseman Paul Malaguti were defensive standouts.

GAME 1
Peabody 11
Andover 8

Post 8 showed plenty of spunk and character in this series opener at Peabody High, but ran out of innings after falling behind 11-1 in the third.

High-scoring games are commonplace at this juncture of the tourney, as pitching staffs on all teams get depleted with lack of adequate rest.

Peabody capitalized against Andover's tired arms, pounding out 17 hits while scoring seven runs in the second and four in the third.

However, after taking the huge lead, Peabody was shut out by reliever Myke Fortier in its final five at-bats while Post 8 built momentum and clawed back with three runs in the fifth, two in the seventh and two in the ninth.

The state champs, who owned a 4-3 regular-season win over Peabody, had two runners aboard and the tying sun at the plate before a strikeout ended what would have been a minor-miracle comeback.

The top of the Andover order did the bulk of the offensive damage.

Leadoff batter Zach O'Donnell pounded out four hits and scored three runs, while No. 2 Paul Malaguti belted a homer (his first), single and drove in four runs.

Joel Keefe, Matt Iorio and Ryan Shepard contributed one safety each, but three other key cogs in the lineup were shut down and finished a combined 0-for-13.

Six Peabody players produced multiple hits, led by Sean O'Hara, Mike Gallo and Kevin Fain who smacked three each.

The big seven-run second was highlighted by a bases-loaded triple from Mike Jackson and three-run homer by Jay Banos.

Shutting the door – Andover pitcher Kevin Calabro pitched the final three innings of Andover's 11-7 win over Lowell.

FIRST ROUND
GAME 1
Andover 8
Lowell 7
(10 innings)

Tim Hughes smacked a two-run double to right field with one out in the top of the 10th to break a 6-6 deadlock, and Lowell left the tying run stranded at second base in the bottom of the inning to cap the frenetic series opener.

Post 8 battled back from an early 5-1 deficit, and trailed 6-3 before finally tying it with two runs in the seventh inning of a scheduled nine-inning game.

Neither team scored in the eighth or ninth – sending the contest into extras where the Andover catcher produced his clutch hit.

The tablesetters in the 10th were starting pitcher Dan Godefroi, Joel Keefe and Matt Hogan (intentional) who all walked to load the bases for Hughes.

After scoring a run in the bottom of the 10th on a walk to Jose Alejandro and two-out double by Matt Monico – Lowell was left frustrated when Matt Lawlor laced a sharp grounder to first baseman Hogan who made a slick play to end the game.

After falling behind 1-0 in the bottom of the second inning, Post 8 tied it in the third on an RBI single by Zach O'Donnell.

Post 87 scored four runs in the third, taking the 5-1 lead, but Andover kept chipping away with two runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and two in the seventh.

Hughes (headed for Holy Cross this fall) had a huge afternoon, finishing 4-for-5 with four RBI.

Matt Iorio added a pair of hits while Keefe laced one safety, reached base three times and scored three runs.

Winning pitcher Tom Arrigg improved to 4-0 with 1 1/3 innings of relief work.

Lefty Patrick Bateson earned his second save of the summer after getting the final two outs of the game.

GAME 2
Andover 11
Lowell 7

Second reliever Kevin Calabro entered the game in the top of the seventh inning with Andover trailing, 7-6, and slammed the door on Post 87 while the locals rallied for two runs in the bottom of the seventh and three insurance tallies in the eighth.

The slender southpaw, mixing speeds and throwing strikes, kept Lowell off-balance while yielding only a single to the first batter he faced and a one-out single in the ninth. He fanned five and didn't issue a walk.

"Kevin showed a lot of poise in a big situation," said Iarrobino. "He told me he likes to pitch in big games. I looked him in the eye before sending him out there. When he says he's ready – you believe him."

Matt Iorio and Ryan Shepard launched the pivotal Andover seventh by drawing back-to-back walks off the third of four Lowell pitchers, lefty Nick Ryan.

Post 8 then loaded the bases with a one-out walk to Zach O'Donnell, after Andrew Hennessy dropped down a sacrifice bunt.

Paul Malaguti greeted reliever Jay Fagone with a sac-fly to left, tying the game 7-7, and Shepard crossed with the eventual winning run on a wild pitch.

An intentional walk to Dan Godefroi rejammed the sacks, and only a spectacular leaping grab of Joel Keefe's sizzling liner by second baseman Wilfredo Rodriguez kept the game close.

In the Andover eighth, Matt Hogan singled to left, took second on a passed ball and scored on Tim Hughes' single to right.

Iorio reached safely when the Lowell catcher misplayed his bunt, and consecutive 350-foot sacrifice flies by Shepard and Hennessy plated Hughes and Iorio with the final two runs.

The visitors grabbed a 3-0 lead in the second stanza on RBI singles by starting pitcher Matt Monico, Jeison King and Jose Alejandro.

Andover got one back in the home half when Hogan singled to left, Hughes walked, the pair worked a double steal and Shepard smacked an RBI single to center.

Post 8 left the bases loaded, however, on a pair of fielder's choice grounders after Hennessy was hit by a pitch.

The Lowell lead jumped to the familiar 5-1 in the fifth on leadoff singles by Brendan Stokes and Jonathan Arias, an intentional walk to Matt Lawlor and a two-run single by Monico.

Second baseman Iorio, in on the grass with one out, made a terrific diving stop of a sharp grounder to save at least one run as he jumped up and threw Lawlor out at the plate.

Andover climbed back with three runs in the fifth as O'Donnell led off with a bunt single and Malaguti singled.

Keefe laced a one-out single, Hogan's deep drive to right became a sac-fly after a fine running catch, and Hughes ripped an RBI single to center.

Post 8 grabbed a brief 6-5 lead in the sixth as Hennessy singled to center, Malaguti slammed an RBI triple down the right field line and Godefroi followed with another triple to right.

A walk, infield single, wild pickoff throw, sac-fly and wild pitch enabled Lowell to regain the advantage, 7-6, before Calabro calmed things down and the locals moved on to the second round.

Zone 5A champ Lowell finished the season 13-8 overall.

Malaguti, Godefroi, Hogan and Hughes sparked the 12-hit Post 8 attack with two safeties each.

Leadoff batter O'Donnell was on base four times with a hit, walk, hit by pitch and fielder's choice.

Patrick Bateson pitched the first six innings for Andover, yielding nine hits and throwing 104 pitches.

Defensively, O'Donnell played an excellent game at shortstop with two putouts and five assists, while Iorio was also sharp with two putouts, three assists.

Pony playoffs begin

By Rick Harrison

All three Andover teams in the Robbins/Suburban Pony League qualified for the post-season playoffs, and all three are launching best-of-3 quarterfinal round series.

The Andover 13-year-old Pony team finished with the league's best regular season record, 17-1, and has been seeded No. 1 in its division.

The locals, who placed first in the North Division, are scheduled to play No. 8 seed Lynnfield (10-6-2) with the first game slated tonight in Andover (5:30 p.m.).

Game two will be tomorrow night in Lynnfield, and if a third game is necessary it will be back in Andover.

A number of the 13's are very familiar with success, having played last summer for the Andover National Little League All-Stars who won the 2004 District 14 Tournament and reached the State Sectional title game.

Other 13 Division quarterfinals have No. 2 seed Dracut East (13-5) versus No. 7 North Reading (11-7), No. 3 Chelmsford (12-5-1) versus No. 6 Wilmington (11-7) and No. 4 Stoneham (12-6) versus No. 5 North Andover (11-6-1).

The first game of each series is at the field of the higher seed.

In the 14-15 Division, Andover Gold and Andover Blue are seeded No. 3 and No. 4 respectively.

Both were listed to launch best-of-3 quarterfinal round series last night (Wednesday), after Townsman presstime, and both are back in action tonight and tomorrow night (if necessary).

Gold (14-3) is facing No. 6 Chelmsford White (12-5) and Blue (13-4) is battling No. 5 Methuen Blue (13-4).

Both 14-15 teams were scheduled to open at home last night and play on the road tonight, although sites for the games depend on field availability and are subject to change.

Other 14-15 series match No. 1 Tyngsboro Red (16-1) versus No. 8 Dracut East (11-6) and No. 2 Lowell (15-2) versus No. 7 Wakefield (12-5).

Ronald E. Zagaja
Certified Divorce Mediator

Separating and divorce is one of life's most stressful events. Ronald E. Zagaja, Certified Divorce Mediator, can help couples deal with the difficult issues of separating and divorce through his impartial guidance.

Divorce Mediation is an alternative to court litigation, which is often costly and lengthy. In contrast to the adversarial approach that is typical in divorce proceedings, divorce mediation helps a couple work together to plan the family's future and to meet the needs of the family. Mr. Zagaja helps couples focus on child custody and support, assets and liabilities, taxes, alimony, and other pertinent issues.

Mr. Zagaja has been a family mediator and mental health professional for more than 30 years. He is one of the first Certified Divorce Mediators recognized in Massachusetts, and he has specialized in divorce mediation since 1992. This certification requires extensive psychological, legal, and financial training. Mr. Zagaja is also a Licensed Independent Clinical Social Worker and Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist. He is also Board Certified in the field of clinical social work, a member of the Association for Conflict Resolution, the Massachusetts Council on Family Mediation, and the Academy of Certified Social Workers.

Ronald Zagaja's office is located in the Andover Counseling Center at Chestnut Green, Building 565, Suite 81, on Rte. 114 in North Andover. He can be reached at (978) 682-1579. His web site is: www.andover-counseling.com.

TOWN TALK

At a floating, surprise birthday party, guest of honor Marlene Bernardin of Andover (center) cuts the cake provided by her cousin, Dawn Jablonski (left). At right is sister-in-law Julie Bernardin, who helped organize the party.

Tunes, balloons and pontoons

Marlene Bernardin of Lovejoy Road celebrated her 60th birthday in style.

In the tradition of grand surprise parties, husband David and children Peter, Paul and Mimi organized a two-hour pontoon boat cruise on the Essex River with 40 family and friends, including 20 Andover residents.

"It was time to turn the tables and have a nice party for her," says David Bernardin, a local attorney. "My wife is a great hostess, she's been entertaining people for many, many years."

Still, it was a little tricky convincing Marlene to dress appropriately for the cruise.

"She was totally, totally in the dark to the point where she was getting dressed up for a fancy restaurant," says David Bernardin. "I said 'Why don't you change into something cooler and more sporty?'"

He watched his wife's face turn from surprise to joy as she glimpsed the happy faces of friends and family on the boat docked at the Essex Marina. Jimmy Buffet tunes and Caribbean music played while guests enjoyed cocktails, appetizers and small sandwiches.

Marlene Bernardin is no stranger to parties. For more than 20 years, she helped host a 10-day tennis tournament in the Bernardins' backyard. Often, she organized meals for more than 100 people on the final day of the tournament.

Now retired, Marlene Bernardin spends time with her first grandchild, child of daughter Mimi LeBrun and husband Scott. A second grandchild is due in two months.

Polishing a jewel

Andover teen Sean Dempsy helped his father restore their home. Now, he's doing a different type of "maintenance work," he says.

On July 24, Sean traveled to Acadia National Park in Maine to help restore and improve areas of the park. Sean will sleep on the floor of a local church for two weeks with 12 other volunteers while cleaning up the national treasure.

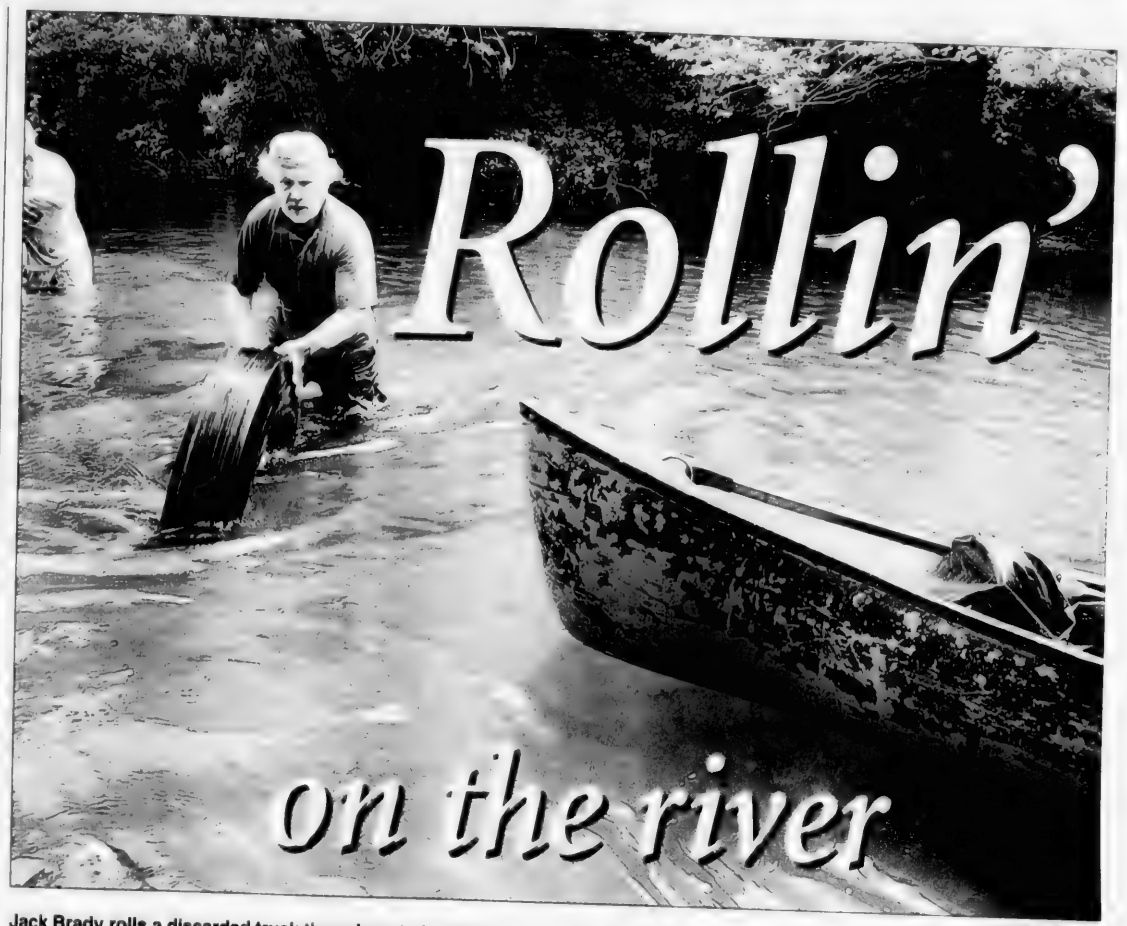

"It's a great opportunity and it sounds like a lot of fun. A lot of work," he says of the trip, "but from what I've heard, it's worth it."

This program was put in place through Landmark Volunteers, a local organization that for the past 11 years has placed high-schoolers in various "historical, cultural, and environmental or social service institutions," according to a press release.

"I got introduced (to Landmark Volunteers) from a teacher at school, and I really like traveling, and a lot of the places that were listed really interested me," says Sean. "It would be a great opportunity to volunteer."

Sean will be a junior at Andover High this fall, and enjoys playing the cello, golfing, swimming, biking, and tennis. No newcomer to community service, he has been involved with the town's community-service program Stir It Up.

Jack Brady rolls a discarded truck tire ashore to be disposed of properly. SRWA members took boats around the Shawsheen River Saturday, July 23, removing garbage and debris that had been polluting the river.

Like modern-day Tom Sawyers, SRWA members make cleaning up the Shawsheen River look like fun, not work

By Greta Cuyler

IT IS A BEAUTIFUL SATURDAY MORNING in July. Temperatures hover in the low 80s as a group of roughly 15 residents greet friends and laugh near the banks of the Shawsheen River.

The people are not here to enjoy the river – not today anyway. They are here to haul garbage out of the lower Shawsheen River.

From 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday, July 23, volunteers from the Shawsheen River Watershed Association focused their efforts on the section of river from Stevens Street dam to Balmoral dam.

The SRWA, a nonprofit organization, performs river cleanups like this on the third Saturday of every month during the warm months, generally April through October.

On this Saturday, the volunteers are in luck. The river is low, making it easier to see and pry loose items towards the bottom of the river. Everyone is covered in dirt within 15 minutes. The smell of river trash is unpleasant. But that does not dampen the spirits of volunteers, who never stop to rest or complain.

"We're not just a bunch of pretty faces," says Jack Brady, a member of SRWA.

People disperse along the section of river. Some jump in the water to fish out debris, while others comb the riverbank carrying giant trash bags. When the person in the water finds debris, they hand it to a volunteer on the riverbank. Still others travel the river in canoes, picking up larger items.

During the three-hour adventure, volunteers amass piles of rubbish never meant to occupy a riverbed. Items include two bicycles, a lawnmower, two sections of metal fence, mattress coils, clothes, metal pipes, tires and shopping carts. One section of river near Washington Park yields a bunch of glass bottles, estimated to be from the '50s or early '60s, judging from the etchings on the glass.

Paul Errico clears canoes of debris collected from the bottom of the Shawsheen River, so that it can be properly disposed of. The next cleanup is Saturday, Aug. 20.

"I've been told that when this area had a lot more rowhouses, residents had a weekly bonfire to burn trash. Whatever didn't burn they would throw in the river," says Bob Marsh, Andover resident and self-employed environmental engineer.

The group raises money through grants and membership dues. Most of the annual operating budget is spent on monthly cleanups like this, paying fees to haul away the trash and dispose of tires. In May, SRWA won an Environmental Merit Award from the New England Office of the United States Environmental Protection Agency. The award recognized the organization's work and commitment to the environment in 2004.

In the past, members of the organization performed river-water testing as part of the state's Clean Water Act regulations, but funding for this type of testing has dried up during the past several years. Suzanne Roberts, an Andover resident, is a member of SRWA and also works for the Department of Environmental Protection. "Money previously available to watersheds for water-quality samples was no longer available," she says. "Without money and organization support, we decided it was easier for us to do recreational things like canoe trips and clean-ups like this."

But there is good news for the SRWA. According to Bob Marsh, the group is no longer finding hundreds of tires in the river each year. Today's event yielded only nine tires, and all but one of the shopping carts extracted were extremely old. Nowadays, the Shawsheen River is deemed swimmable by the state Department of Public Health, a claim not possible 20 years ago.

Continuing issues for the river include hot spots of contamination, which Marsh attributes mostly to sewer and septic systems that feed into the river. Last year, town officials shut down four septic systems draining into the river. Marsh says that was common practice once. Although it is illegal now, there are still systems flowing into the river, and owners are not aware of it.

Overall, the group says its goal is to raise awareness, minimize trash disposal into the river and encourage residents living along the river not to use pesticides on their lawns.

When the cleanup is finished on Saturday, volunteers are still in an upbeat mood. "It makes us feel good," says Marsh.

The group enjoyed a barbecue hosted by the Washington Park Condominium Association. John Murphy, the association's president, smiled as he took grill orders for hot dogs and hamburgers and wondered why this was the first time the group hosted such an event. "I think we should have thought of this a long time ago," he says. "They do such good work."

SRWA's next cleanup is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 20.

Wheels keep on turnin' – Local storyteller Magdalen Cantwell, a cancer survivor, will ride in the Pan-Massachusetts Challenge.

WHAT'S UP contributor

ANDOVER RESIDENT MAGDALEN CANTWELL, a cancer survivor, believes cycling made her strong again. Now, she will cycle to help current and future cancer patients.

"I biked my way back to health," claims Cantwell, who will participate in the Pan Massachusetts Challenge bicycle ride for her second time this August.

The Pan Mass Challenge, a Massachusetts bicycle event whose riders cover between 89 and 192 miles, raised $20 million last year for cancer treatment and research. Cantwell is one of 25 Andover residents who will ride in the Pan Mass Challenge. Six Andover volunteers will staff the sidelines.

"It's such an exciting experience, working with the team," says Cantwell, speaking about the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute riders. "The best part is you're never on your own. There's terrific camaraderie, people on the sides cheering you on.

"It's not only us bikers, its all the supporters," she says. "I feel they're biking with us in a way."

The beginning of the route remains the most exciting for her "When we start," she muses, "I think the hum of the 2,000 (bicycle) chains going is absolutely breathtaking."

Cantwell hopes to raise $6,000 this year, and is biking on behalf of a woman named Debbie whom she has never met. Debbie was diagnosed with cancer during her pregnancy, and has since given birth and is undergoing chemotherapy.

Cantwell will ride 85 miles in the Pan Mass Challenge, and trains daily

Creative Upholstery & Furniture

With a growing number of satisfied customers living anywhere from Andover to Manchester-by-the-Sea to Boston, the family owned and operated Creative Upholstery and Furniture owners are recognized throughout eastern Massachusetts for providing high quality upholstery work and at-home customer service. John DeCesare founded Creative Upholstery over 30 years ago. Together with sons, Dean and Kevin, they have over 70 years of combined experience in their field.

The DeCesares offer expertise in upholstery work- providing the right touch on furniture, cornices, headboards, custom made ottomans and pillows. You can choose your fabric from their huge selection of sample books, or you can bring in your own selection. They also specialize in recovering antique furniture, and consequently, they can repair modern furniture as well. If you want to create your own, new piece of furniture, Creative Upholstery has new furniture frames and can create couches or chairs in your choice of fabric. They also recover patio furniture, camper and boat cushions and motorcycle seats.

Creative Upholstery prides itself on its outstanding customer service- a reflection of their neighborhood business status and their ties to the community. The owners insist that when customers feel ready to have their furniture repaired, Creative Upholstery will send someone to the customer's home with samples. With their expert advise and assistance, selecting the perfect fabric and matching it to your decor has never been easier. If you are creative and want to take the repairing into your own hands, Creative Upholstery will be happy to work with you to make your dreams and visions a reality.

Creative Upholstery provides free estimates. Customers are encouraged to drop by their store to see pictures of their previous work and to check out the furniture on sale in their storefront. All work is done on the premises and is 100% guaranteed to meet the customer's satisfaction. They accept all major credit cards.

FOR SENIORS

By Pat Becker
Andover Senior Center

Here are some of the activities coming up at the Andover Senior Center. Call 978-623-8321 for more information about any classes, programs or services.

Pennsylvania Dutch Trip: The center will sponsor a trip to Pennsylvania Dutch country the weekend of Aug. 26-28. The cost includes hotel accommodations (double occupancy), meals, farmer's market, dinner theater, tours and transportation from the center. Cost is $350 for double occupancy, or $450 for a single.

Easy Exercise: Our easy exercise class meets Thursday afternoons at 1:30. If you're looking for a gentle form of exercise with lots of support, this might be the class for you. Cost of the session is $27, or just $10 if you take it in conjunction with our weight-management class.

Garden Tours: We invite the public to enjoy touring some of Andover's loveliest home gardens. On Tuesday, Aug. 9 we will visit the woodland garden of Carol Prentice. Spaces are limited and pre-registration is necessary. Directions are available at the center.

Card Players: Our drop-in cribbage group meets Monday and Tuesday afternoons at 1, and our men's bridge group gets together every Thursday at 1 p.m. Newcomers are welcome in both groups.

Book Club: Our summer book discussion will continue today, Thursday, July 28 at 1 p.m. when we will discuss the book, The Reading Group by Elizabeth Noble. Copies of the book are available for checkout at the senior center.

Movie Matinee: On Monday, Aug. 8 at 1 p.m. we will show the recent release In Good Company. Dennis Quaid stars in this entertaining comedy about a "50-something" advertising executive with a new "20-something" boss, setting up a battle of the generations.

Computer Internet Class: Intro to the Internet: Tuesdays, Aug. 2, 9 & 16 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.; $25. This class is for people who want to know more about the Internet, including service providers, navigating Web sites, search engines and links. We'll test some of the most popular sites, so you'll have an opportunity to search on your own. Limited spaces; pre-registration required.

Ogunquit Trip – On Your Own in Ogunquit: Choose how you want to spend the day: explore the Perkins Cove area, visit the Ogunquit Art Museum for the Edward Hopper exhibit on loan from the Whitney Museum in New York; or browse the many attractions in Ogunquit proper, on Tuesday, Aug. 23. Cost is $20.

Golf: Members of our men's group get together every Tuesday morning at 7:30 for a round of golf at the Tewksbury Country Club. Senior rate is $15 for nine holes. If you'd like to join in, give Bob Henderson a call at 978-858-0815.

Lobster Bake & Spoon River: We will hold our annual lobster bake on Saturday, Aug. 20 at 6 p.m. After dinner come with us to a Spoon River performance where we'll meet 30 wild characters from the 1890s. Edgar Lee Masters' classic work is highly animated with period costumes and props. This one is usually sold out, so get your tickets ($15) early; advance reservations only.

Blood Pressure Checks: Nurses are available at the center every Wednesday afternoon at 2 for blood pressure checks. There is no charge for this service and reservations are not necessary.

Exercise Options: The senior center offers classes in strength training for women, Tai Chi, water workout, beginning and intermediate yoga, tap dancing, men's exercise, low-impact aerobics, cardio conditioning, easy exercise and square dancing.

IN THE MILITARY

Navy Seaman Apprentice Franco D. Taffurelli, son of Sara F. Buttice of Andover, recently participated in anti-drug operations leading to the seizure of more than 4,200 pounds of narcotics while assigned to guided-missile frigate USS Kauffman, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

Taffurelli's unit had been tracking the motor vessel Al Naveed before boarding it. The team discovered the drugs hidden behind a false bulkhead.

Taffurelli's ship is deployed to the North Arabian Sea to conduct maritime security operations, which sets the conditions for security and stability in the maritime environment and complements counter-terrorism and security efforts.

Guided-missile frigates such as USS Kauffman are anti-submarine warfare combatants for amphibious expeditionary forces, underway replenishment groups and merchant convoys.

Taffurelli, a 2003 graduate of North Andover High School, joined the Navy in February 2004.

Navy Lt. Ali H. Ghaffari, a 1998 graduate of Phillips Academy, was recently designated a Naval Aviator while serving with Training Air Wing One, Meridian, Miss.

Ghaffari was presented with the Wings of Gold medal, marking the culmination of months of flight training.

Ghaffari followed a training curriculum that included basic studies in engineering and navigation, training flights in simulators, aircraft familiarizations, basic and advanced instrument training, extended navigation flights, and landings and takeoffs aboard an aircraft carrier.

Ghaffari joined the Navy in July 2001.

WHAT'S UP

Maximize summer with AYS

By Glenn Wilson
Andover Youth Services assistant director

IF YOU ARE STILL looking for something to do this summer, AYS has some select programs to get the most out of your vacation.

Field Hockey Clinic

This program will teach girls (entering sixth grade to freshmen in high school) the fundamental skills of field hockey. This clinic will give girls the chance to learn the basic skills, rules, and experience game play. Get ready for drills, small games, shooting competition, 6-on-6 games, and much more. The clinic will run Aug. 2-5 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Instruction will be led by AHS varsity coach Maureen Noone and AHS varsity field hockey players.

Golf Clinic

If you are thinking about trying out for the AHS Golf Team this fall, check out this special clinic designed to give you the skills needed to make the golf team. The High School Prep Clinic will feature hands-on instruction, and numerous rounds of play. Emphasis will be on proper ball-striking skills, pitching, putting, club selection and course management. The bottom line is you need to master the short game in order to improve your score and be able to play par (or better) golf. Session will be run at the Rolling Green Golf Course from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Aug. 15-18. Instruction will be provided by PGA member Barrie Bruce and his staff. This clinic is open to anyone who intends to play high school golf, or might play in the future.

For youth 12 and younger, there is the Pee Wee Golf Program. Improve your skills and play many rounds of golf. Program runs from Aug. 1-4 from 10 a.m. to noon. (Instruction also by B. Bruce and his staff.)

Ultimate Frisbee Clinic

Ultimate combines the fast-paced action of soccer with skills and strategies similar to basketball and lacrosse. Be a part of the fastest growing sport in Andover. Participants will learn multiple types of throws, defensive skills, and offensive patterns through drills, exercises and actual games. Directed by Suzie Clarke, and assisted by past and present members of the AHS Ultimate team. Runs Aug. 23-25 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Halfway to Hollywood – Intro to Film and TV Production

Whether you are interested in directing, operating a camera, editing using the high tech AVID stations, coordinating graphics, or hosting a show – this is your chance to get the skills from instructors and AHS teachers Joe Spanos and Wess Murphy. This interactive, hands-on experience will feature field trips and special guests. Check it out! Runs Aug. 8-12, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

To register or for more information, contact Andover Youth Services at 978-623-8241.

Yokohama Japanese Steak House

For many years now Yokohama Japanese Steak House has been one of the bright spots in the Merrimack Valley dining scene, serving Japanese and Korean cuisine for both lunch and dinner. Owners Jin Won Jun and Young Hee Jun offer their guests a variety of dining options, including a sushi bar. The dining room features Teppanyaki tables and the bar serves mixed drinks, brand name liquors, beer, wine, sake, and cordials to enjoy before dinner or with your meal.

The menu offers a delightful selection of dishes, from the vegetable and shrimp tempura to the more unusual Seafood Juncol, a mouthwatering spicy seafood dish served in casserole. Yokohama chefs are skilled in the Japanese tradition of beautiful presentation that enhances one's enjoyment of the delicious food. They insist on meticulous preparation and use only the finest and freshest ingredients. Nowhere else is that more evident than in the superb sashimi, sushi, and maki served at the sushi bar and in the dining room. The chefs are also happy to accommodate special requests, including vegetarian dishes.

The Teppanyaki Dinner is a favorite with both adults and children. Everyone loves the drama of having an attentive Yokohama chef prepare their meal on a grill at their Teppanyaki table. With a choice of filet mignon, sirloin steak, chicken, fish, and shellfish, these complete dinners include soup, Habachi Shrimp Appetizer, salad, fresh oriental vegetables, rice, and tea.

Yokohama is a favorite place to celebrate special occasions. Adding to the fun, your party is memorialized with a picture that joins a multitude of others on the wall.

Yokohama Steak House meals are very reasonably priced, and weekday lunch specials offer many appetizing choices at good prices. Take out is also available.

Yokohama is located at 311-313 S. Broadway (Rte. 28), South Lawrence, near the Andover line. Hours are Mon. 5 to 10 p.m., Tues.-Thurs. 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 5 to 10 p.m., Fri.- Sat. 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 5 to 11 p.m., Sun. 2 to 10 p.m. Telephone: 978-689-4047. Reservations are recommended.

The summer concert series is held every Wednesday in the Park from 6-8 p.m. Stop by with a picnic supper and chairs or blankets. The series continues through Aug. 17. In the event of rain on Wednesday, the concert will be held on Thursday. Call the DCS info line for weather updates after 3 p.m., 978-623-8279. The Aug. 10 concert features Rico Barr & The Jump 'n' Jive Review.

Cantwell: Ready to ride

■ PAN MASS CHALLENGE

on her own route around Andover: up High Street, down Salem Street, around Andover Street. She hopes to get up to 85 miles a day before the day of the Challenge.

"Last year, I got up to 70 (miles) before the event. The last 15 miles were a killer!" she recalls.

Cantwell is also anticipating the days before the event, which will take place Aug. 6 and 7. This Saturday, July 30, Cantwell will join 25 other cancer survivors at the Red Sox-Minnesota Twins game at Fenway Park. "We'll bike around inside before the game begins," says Cantwell.

Never having seen the Green Monster or eaten a Fenway Frank before, Cantwell is "delighted to be chosen for that."

But really, in her mind, the Pan Mass Challenge is all about raising money for research. Cantwell plans on hosting children's birthday parties this summer and giving the proceeds to the Pan Mass Challenge. She's hoping to get a neighborhood party or similar function to contribute to her fund. Why all the effort? "It really helps you to move out of yourself and start doing something for other people," she says.

CLARENCE S. DELANEY

Clarence S. Delaney, 94, died July 19, 2005 at the Veterans Hospital in Augusta, GA. He was the husband of the late Carnegie "Connie" (Busbee) Delaney, R.N. who died in 2001.

"Del" was born in Andover, MA. on November 10, 1910. He was the son of Clarence J. and Mary Ellen (Goodwin) Delaney and a long time Andover resident. From his early years, until he and Connie moved to Aiken S.C. in 1987, he was a member of St. Augustine's church.

Del's first job was at the age of 14 delivering telegrams, by bicycle, for Western Union in Andover. He later worked at Marland Mills in Andover until he entered the US Army Air Corp. He was very proud of his military service during World War II. He refueled B52 bombers at the base in Dover, Delaware and was the Chief Dispatcher of the motor pool in Panama. He met Connie, who originally from Aiken, S.C., while in the military service in Tampa, FL. and they were married there in 1944. After Del was discharged from the U.S. Army he brought her to Andover where they lived for over 25 years and Del worked at Bolta Rubber Co. in Lawrence, MA. After he retired from Bolta Rubber Co. he worked as a security guard on the campus of Phillips Academy in Andover. He never tired of telling stories about Andover, which was his second love after his family, or his time spent in the military.

Del is survived by his sister Helen Gaudreau of Methuen, MA, his sister-in-law Mrs. Thomas (Alta) Delaney of Andover, and nieces and nephews Louis "Kip" Gaudreau and Jane Crafton of Methuen, Linda Aumais and Thomas Delaney of Lawrence, and Judith McAllister of Elizabethtown, PA, as well as the Gazda family of North Augusta, S.C. who lovingly cared for him for several years. His brother Thomas J. Delaney and sister Mary P. Becotte predeceased him.

A memorial service was held at Our Lady of Peace catholic church in North Augusta, S.C. - Burial will be in the Busbee family lot in the Wagener Cemetery, Wagener, S.C.

ALL THOSE YEARS AGO

50 Years Ago – 1955

Permits for new homes valued at $342,000 were granted by building inspector Ralph W. Coleman in June. New building permits for residences with garages were issued.

Water was churned into a froth at Pomps Pond Sunday. In the midst of it, if an onlooker stared hard enough, could be seen 24 arms, an equal number of legs and various parts of bodies, and one greased watermelon.

The School Building Committee is studying the financial conditions of three firms that bid on the development at the new high school on Shawsheen Road.

Advertisement: Polio Insurance… With protection against 11 other dread diseases included at no increase in cost. Plans to suit every family at rates as low as $8 per year.

Hydrants on upper Summer Street were flushed Tuesday. Engineer Preble said complaints of dirty water may be remedied by flushing.

25 Years Ago – 1980

The reactions of tenants asked to vacate the Andover Garden Apartments off Haverhill Street to make way for condominium buyers have included "desperation and heartsickness," according to one tenant.

A young cop, crouching behind a column, fires at a masked bank robber crouched behind the same column less than two feet away who is firing right back. The drama was very real last week at the Lawrence Savings Bank in Shawsheen Square, and the reserve police officer involved was Andover's William MacKenzie.

The Zoning Board of Appeals is expected to reach a decision during its next meeting Aug. 7th on Arkwright/Boston Insurance Co.'s petition to move the Shattuck farmhouse from the farm property. The property is part of the land package soon to be acquired by Digital Equipment Corp.

The appointment to the Police Department of Andover's first female police officer and a reserve officer who was involved in a shootout bank robbery last week were approved by the selectmen Monday night. New officers Barbara Conley and William MacKenzie will attend the police academy beginning July 31.

Bay State Gas Co. has announced that it began returning more than $3,000,000 to its customers on July 1 as a result of natural gas rate decisions by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

Design development of the three-part $11.72 million school building project is now heading into the final stages and should be "just about jelled" by early August, architects told the School Building Committee last Thursday night.

Life in Andover would be improved for handicapped residents if the library and town hall were made accessible to them. The town manager said that plans are underway for all of the requests.

When the violent thunderstorms of July 11 started a fire at a liquid hydrogen tank on the Shetland properties in Shawsheen Village, it also started the neighbors wondering how safe that tank really is. But Fire Chief William Downs said the fire was well under control at all times and that no formal evacuation had been ordered.

Lack of adequate support from town employees may be leading to "burnout" among Planning Board members, Pam St. John, League of Women Voters vice president, told the selectmen Monday night.

Massachusetts Electric Co. and its affiliate New England Power Co. paid a property and real estate tax bill of $313,980 this past year, according to Fenton W. Varney district manager.

GCA Corp.'s new $17 million manufacturing plant now being built in the Andover technical center is one of the largest one-story buildings in the state and one of the most energy efficient, according to statistics released by GCA engineers.

Public works will undertake a detailed study of a revised plan for sewering section one of the 116-acre Andover Country Club subdivision before making a recommendation to the Planning Board, the board learned Tuesday.

A bank robbery in Shawsheen which netted robbers about $300 Friday night has resulted in one suspect under police guard at Mass. General Hospital suffering from gunshot wounds.

10 Years Ago – 1995

Two men wielding baseball bats robbed two Papa Gino's employees Friday night as the employees were leaving the Shawsheen Plaza store.

An Andover bicyclist was injured early Tuesday morning, when he was allegedly sideswiped by a car pulling into Raytheon Co. on Lowell Street, knocking him to the ground.

A Gardner man was arrested and charged this week for last Wednesday afternoon's armed robbery of the Mr. Whippy ice cream store on Andover Street.

Some residents have expressed interest in getting some of the dirt from the Andover High School construction for yard projects, but Mr. Morash said all of the dirt removed during construction of the High School addition will be used on the site. And that's too bad, because it is excellent loam, he said.

Tim Thomas, Andover High School principal since 1991, has requested and been granted reassignment to a teaching position at the school.

The School Committee failed to appoint a new assistant superintendent of schools last week, and is unclear exactly when that task will be taken up again. There is even talk of not filling the position.

The owners of Andover Beauty Supply have a new product- hot dogs. And they're not even the turkey kind. Instead, they're good, old fashioned, all-beef, natural-casing, surround-with-mustard and stain your shirt hot dogs.

Emergency help is now just three digits away for Andover residents. At noon on July 19, the new Enhanced-911 emergency telephone service was activated in town.

The Andover Police Department named Detective Patrolman James Haggerty officer of the year for 1995 and presented him with the David L. Nicoll Award at last month's policemen's ball.

The town of Andover is about to have its 350th anniversary. To commemorate such an important event, the Andover Historical Society plans the publication Andover, A Century of Change: 1896-1996.

A 6-year-old Dorchester boy drowned in Pomps Pond Sunday evening while swimming with his family and friends. The pond was closed at the time, so no lifeguard was on duty.

It is not that unusual for a new business to go under, but it's less common for one to start there. In choosing a name, Tom Aylward took advantage of the subterranean location for his new music store, below street level in the Barnard Building: Underground Music.

Environmental Affairs Secretary Trudy Coxe recently approved a conservation restriction grant request of nearly 4.8 acres in Andover by Hunter's Ridge Condominium Trust to the Andover Conservation Commission.

Sadly Missed By:
Mom, Dad, Brother, Sister In-Law, Aunts, Uncles, Cousins, Family & Friends

The day that you left us
Our hearts split in two
One side filled with memories
The other dying with you
We often lay awake at night
When the world is fast asleep
And take a walk down memory lane
With tears upon our cheeks
Remember you is easy
We do it everyday
But missing you is heartache
That never goes away
We hold you always in our hearts
And there you will remain
Though life has gone on without you
It will never be the same.

NOTICE OF PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL

To all persons interested in the above captioned estate, a petition has been presented praying that the last will of said decedent be proved and allowed, and that ROBERT F. COLPITTS of SAN MATEO in the State of CALIFORNIA and NANCY C. ACETI of KINNELON in the State of NEW JERSEY be appointed executors, named in the will to serve without surety.

IF YOU DESIRE TO OBJECT THERETO, YOU OR YOUR ATTORNEY MUST FILE A WRITTEN APPEARANCE IN SAID COURT AT SALEM ON OR BEFORE TEN O'CLOCK IN THE FORENOON (10:00AM) ON AUGUST 8, 2005.

In addition, you must file a written affidavit of objections to the petition, stating specific facts and grounds upon which the objection is based, within thirty (30) days after the return day (or such other time as the court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow) in accordance with Probate Rule 16.

WITNESS, HON. JOHN C. STEVENS, III, ESQUIRE, First Justice of said Court at SALEM this day, July 5, 2005.

COMING NEXT WEEK:
ANDOVER'S FARMERS

Next week the Townsman will publish a group of features on some of Andover's few remaining farmers, including Richard Nabydowski – a farmer who will soon sell his land.

Court: No more driving for man onrushing officers. Police said they had to wrestle Graca to the ground at gunpoint to handcuff him and Graca smashed his head through one of the police cruiser's windows once inside. He requested a psychiatrist and was later treated at Lawrence General Hospital and released.

Graca, a concrete worker from Hudson, was released on $2,500 bail Thursday night, but one condition was that he receive a mental health evaluation. Assistant District Attorney Michael Patten said he heard Graca had already begun the evaluation before appearing in court.

Other conditions demand Graca pay a personal surety in the amount of $5,000, surrender his license to the court and drive "under no circumstances" at least until a pretrial hearing Aug. 30. Graca must also contact the probation department once a week.

Joel Graca sits in a police cruiser with blood on his face after he smashed his head through the car's window last Thursday following a car chase and his arrest.

No surprise on farm sale

Bill Dalton

What is going on with the Nabydowski Farm is so predictable that I am a tad surprised that everyone didn't see it coming.

Adam Smith, the founder of economics, saw it coming – and he's been dead since 1790.

In Wealth of Nations Smith states the basic principle upon which all modern economic theory is based. It is called the "invisible hand" theory and it says, "Every individual ... neither intends to promote the public interest, nor knows how much he is promoting it. He intends only his own gain, and he is in this, as in many other cases, led by an invisible hand to promote an end which was no part of his intention. By pursuing his own interest he frequently promotes that of the society more effectually than when he really intends to promote it. I have never known much good done by those who affected to trade for the public good."

The other day when I was reading about what was happening with the Nabydowski land, I remembered John F. Kennedy's lament about the fact that it seemed to him that no one took Economics 101.

Let me see if I can summarize the situation. The Nabydowski family owned a farm for many years. They owned it back in the days when Andover was small. For many years they collected the garbage in town and used it to feed pigs. In the early morning you'd see them running through neighborhoods to pull out the garbage people had left in deep cans in the ground. Everyone who knew them respected their work ethic and many of us were friendly with at least one of them. They worked hard and maximized their interest – as Adam Smith had predicted. Andover grew and people bought land and built houses around and near the farm. Like the Nabydowskis, I'm sure they worked hard in order to buy their property. As more and more people built near the farm, the farm became odious to the nearby property owners. Over the years, they, as Smith predicted, wanted to maximize their interests (investment).

Through government intervention, which Smith would have abhorred while he lived but I like to think would have understood as necessary these days, pressure and court intervention forced the Nabydowskis to make a deal to close the pig farm and sell the land. Given the options that they had, the Nabydowskis chose the one that would maximize their interest.

A developer has taken over control of the farm and has announced, after looking at the options possibly available to him, that the way to maximize his interest is to develop the property into many low income housing units. These units may be subsidized, which will allow his permit process to be completed more easily.

The developer may have stated previously that he planned to build a low density, upscale subdivision. In any event, wetlands now require him to go high density, low income. Real estate developers are in the business of making money, as much as they can, with a parcel of land. The developer, like the Nabydowskis and the neighbors, will try to maximize his interest. Why shouldn't he do so?

This is all very, very basic economics. Let me be so presumptuous as to restate Adam Smith's thesis, given the fact that we live over 215 years after he died. Today, government intervention plays a role in personal interests. Government is supposed to represent all of us, and, in the case of Andover, protect the town from other people trying to maximize their interests to the detriment of the town. Government limits people from maximizing their interests. If it hadn't been for government intervention, the Nabydowskis might still be farming. Given the fact that government sided with the neighbors (for good and sufficient reason, I'm sure), the Nabydowskis then went to their best option and gave their property rights to a person who would give them the most money. That person will now try to maximize his interest, just as Adam Smith predicted.
